Crime is down 2.7 percent

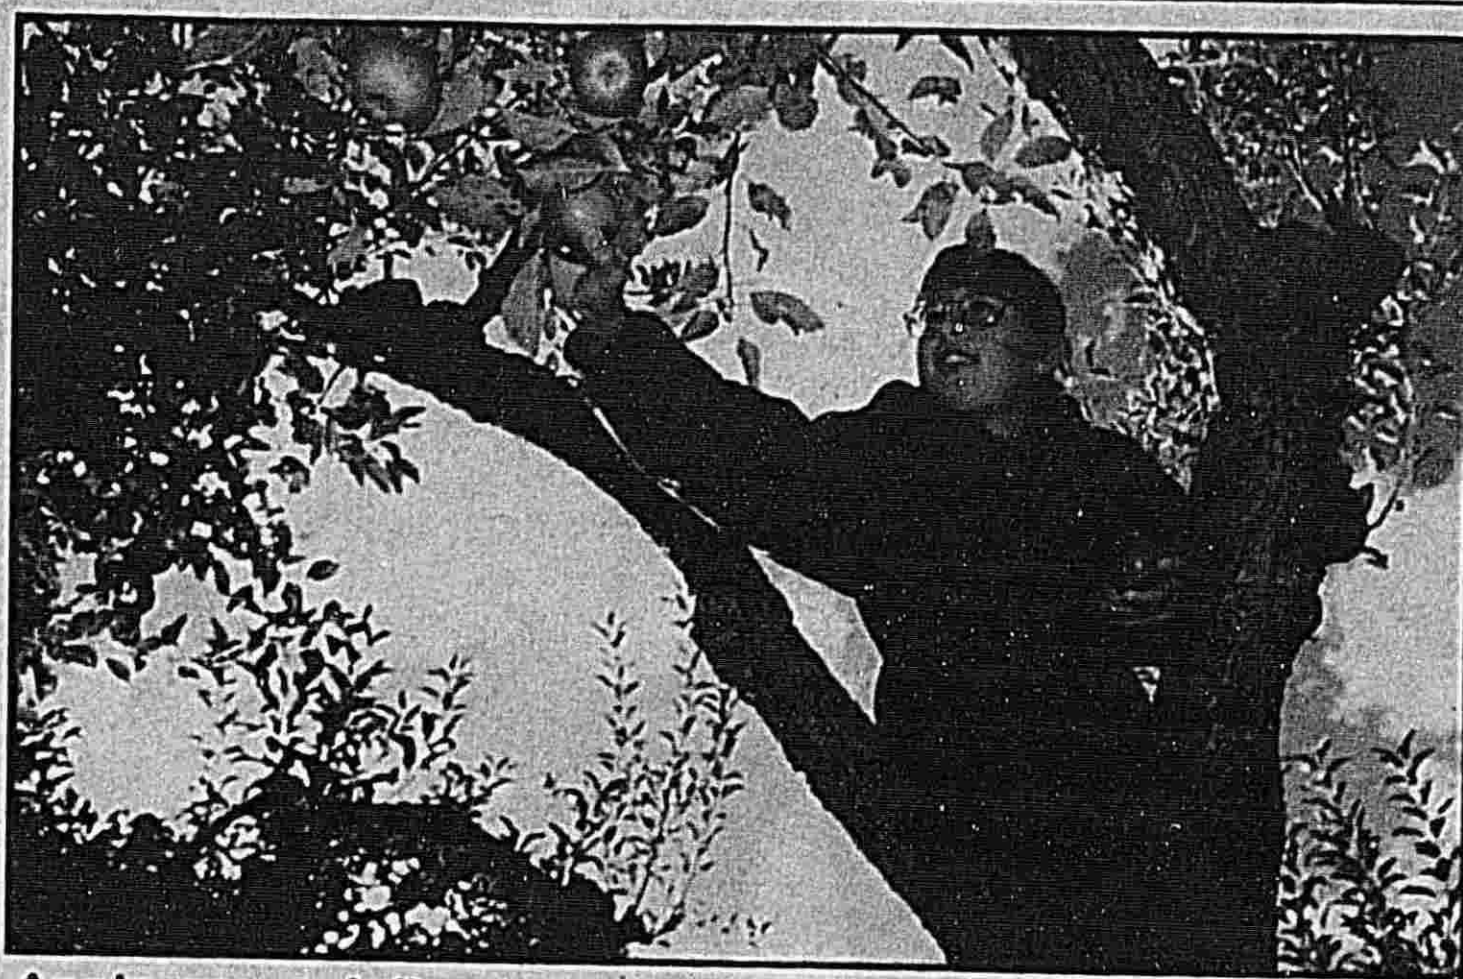

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Crime is down 2.7 percent in Antioch according to the latest available reporting statistics released by the Illinois Uniform Crime Reporting Program.

Despite revisions by the program, the Village of Antioch still logged overall reductions in crime in 1994.

The total number of crimes reported in Antioch for 1994 was 439, compared to 451 in 1993. And, this was despite the fact the population increased. As a result, statistically, crime is down in Antioch by 2.7 percent.

"If you look at the statistics, it looks pretty good," said Deputy Chief Charles Watkins. "Especially compared to other See CRIME page A10

'Ride for Bill Brook' raises funds for cancer

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

More than 30 bicyclists put on an extra layer of clothing to endure early morning frosts before they hit the road as part of the third annual "Ride for Bill Brook" bike-a-thon to benefit the American Cancer Society.

Despite the nip in the air, bicyclists of all ages pedaled through the quiet Oakwood Knoll subdivision in Antioch and greater Antioch on the first day of autumn to help raise funds for cancer patients.

The bike-a-thon was sponsored by Antioch Schwin and the Antioch Jaycees. Early estimates indicate that donations surpassed last year's $7,500 mark. At least $1,250 was raised through business sponsorships this year.

"There were more bicyclists this year, so I think about $8,000 will be raised. We rely on donations to fund cancer control programs, research and education," said a spokesperson from the Lake County American Cancer Society in Gurnee.

'It's nice to help out the Cancer Society and to keep Bill Brook's name going.'

— Brian Stoddard

Brook, whose name the bike-a-thon memorializes, was an Antioch native born in 1915 who died in 1992 from cancer. An Antioch High School graduate, Brook went on to become See RIDE page A14

Police searching for coin collection owners

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Police Department is searching for the owners of an antique coin collection. If the owner does not come forward soon, the collection will be lost.

According to Deputy Chief Charles Watkins, during the early part of August a young child between the ages of 10 and 11 years old went to a store in the village. The child asked the clerk to exchange coins for bills, which the clerk did.

Upon closer inspection of the coins, it appears the coins are part of a collection dating from the early 1900s to 1972. "Most of them are old coins," said Watkins.

The face value of the coins is $40, however it is likely the coins are much more valuable.

"What we are asking is for village residents to maybe check and make sure their coin collections are intact," said Watkins. "Otherwise, we are going to have to turn them over (to the store)."

Residents are encouraged to call the Antioch Police Department at 395-8585 if they find their collection or part of their collection missing. Residents will be required to specifically identify the coins.

Homecoming festivities continue

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School Homecoming festivities continue this weekend with two dances, the homecoming parade, and, of course, the big football game on Saturday.

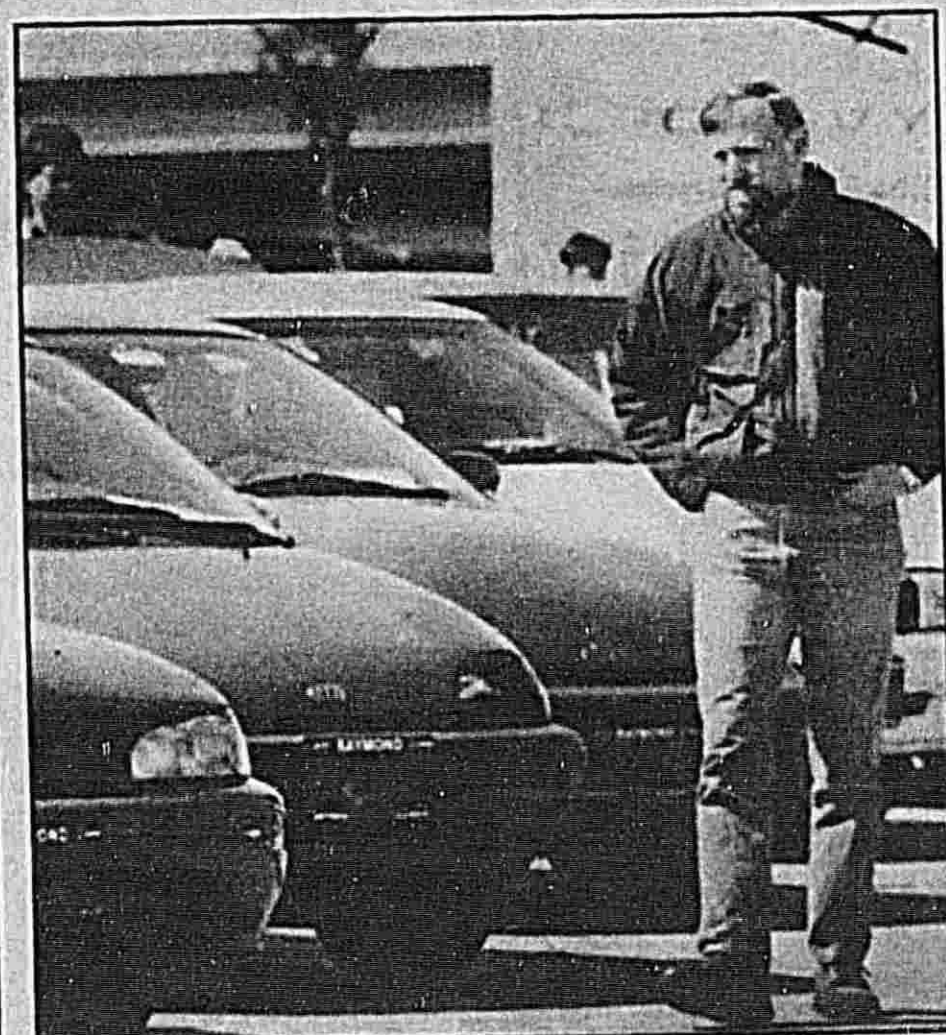

Friday is School Colors/Spirit Day with the Homecoming Pep Rally from 8:30 to 9:15 p.m. The King and Queen will be crowned on Friday and the Post Rally Dance following.

Saturday kicks off with a pancake breakfast from 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. The parade begins at 10 a.m. starting in the west parking lot of the school.

After the parade is the big game. The ACHS varsity team meets East Aurora at 1 p.m.

The festivities wrap up with the Homecoming Dance from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. which will be held in the commons.

Mr. ACHS was crowned Tuesday night. The winner of this unusual event was John Groth, a senior. He replaces last years winner, Randy Love.

Limitations changed on Dist. 34 rezoning

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

A plan for an apartment complex off Highview Rd. brought objections from nearby residents and one Antioch trustee.

The limitations specifying the number of units for the controversial plan were eliminated at the first reading of the rezoning ordinance. The property is currently owned by School District 34.

The apartment plan raised the ire of neighbors in the small, single access area. Safety concerns topped the list of objections the group had regarding the rezoning of the property to multi-family.

While the neighbors' concerns were noted by the Antioch Village Board, the trustees could find no legal objection to the apartment plan. Instead, the board felt obligated to ignore the recommendations of the planning and zoning board and approve the rezoning.

One lone trustee, Wayne Foresta, objected to the plan on record.

Initially, the plan restricted the amount of units to 43. However, Antioch Village Planner Robert Silhan informed the board the school district never agreed to that limitation and the restriction had to be removed from the ordinance.

"The petitioner did not agree to the limitation," said Silhan. "I had to remove it."

Nevertheless, the amount of units will be limited by other measures. "They had agreed, however, to limit the building to two stories," Silhan explained. "That may well limit the number of units."

District 34's rezoning petition was the result of attempt to sell the 3.6 acres of property. After listing the property with brokers, the only offer was from a developer wanting to build apartments.

Street improvements, a tree replacement plan, as well as other issues were included in Silhan's comments, which become part of the rezoning ordinance.

"I'm keeping my no," said Trustee Wayne Foresta when the board voted after the reading of the ordinance. The measure was approved by a majority of trustees.

New cemetery and church in the works

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Village Board has approved, in principal, an annexation and rezoning agreement for the southwest end of Deep Lake Road and Depot Street (also known as Little Silver Lake Road). While the plans are far into the future, a church and new cemetery are expected to be built on the property.

St. Ignatius Episcopal Church, currently on Main Street, hopes to move to the 5-acre spot on the corner of the parcel. An 8-acre cemetery is planned immediately west of the proposed church.

The owners of the Hillside Cemetery planning to develop the property. The expected density of the new cemetery will be 1,500 cemetery plots per acre. A special use zoning classification will be needed.

There is no affiliation between the church and the cemetery.

"There will be four documents," Village Attorney Ken Clark told the village board members. "The pre-annexation agreement, an ordinance authorizing the mayor to sign, the annexation ordinance, and an ordinance for rezoning."

Rotary auction includes Puerto Rico trip

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Good eating, great entertainment, and the auction combine to make the Antioch Rotary Club Pork Chop Dinner and Auction a favorite event. This year, the theme is "Lights, Camera, Auction."

Actors and actresses from Antioch's own PM&L Theater will be decked out as your favorite stars during the charitable event.

"They will be walking around and entertaining a bit," said Rotary member Bob Schneider. "It is going to be a whole lot of fun."

The dinner and auction is held every year to generate money for the club. The Antioch Rotary Club then provides scholarships and funding for various community activities.

Dinner begins at 5 p.m. at St. Peter's Social Center on Sept. 30. The auction action begins at 7 p.m.

"We have a week's stay in Puerto Rico, one airline ticket, and dinner with Senator Adeline Geokaris in Greentown," said Schneider.

One of the more unusual items to be auctioned will be an opportunity for a young person, to be a page for a day in the Illinois House of Representatives.

The popular treasure box will be back this year. Purchase a key for $10. After 300 keys are sold, purchasers will have an opportunity to try and open the box. Inside will be a diamond tennis bracelet.

Sports autographed items, dinners, and even a week's stay in a Florida condominium will be on the auction block. Thelen Sand and Gravel donated a large, hand-woven American Indian blanket.

After the auction, coffee and snacks will be served.

Tickets for the event cost $15 and can be purchased at the First National Bank of Antioch, the First National Bank of Chicago, and State Bank of the Lakes. In addition, tickets will be sold at the door. With every ticket sold, a chance to win a $500 shopping spree at Piggly Wiggly will be included.

For more information, call 395-4444 and ask for Bob Schneider.

Antioch Club kicks off the Octoberfest season

The German American Club is kicking off the Octoberfest season by holding an Octoberfest this Saturday at the Antioch VFW on North Avenue.

The Austrian Trio Grande will be on hand to entertain fest-goers from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Doors open at 7 p.m. and tickets will be available at the door.

Food includes tradition German fare as well as hot pretzels to nibble on. Special German beers along with domestic brands will be available.

Along with the band, a special surprise is in store for the Octoberfest participants. A dance troop will perform traditional folk dances.

Flu shot program available

The Kenosha Visiting Nurse Association and Visiting Nurse Community Care will be holding a flu shot program on Oct. 13 at the Antioch VFW from 3 to 7 p.m. Cost of the shots will be $8 and Medicare will be accepted.

The "flu", or influenza is an acute respiratory illness caused by different types of viruses. The flu starts quickly and is generally characterized by a high fever, dry cough, headache, and general body aches. During the normal course of the illness symptoms typically last a week to 10 days.

Flu shots must be taken annually because the immunity gained by the injections is short lived. In addition, because strains of flu virus and the vaccines change from year to year.

According to the Kenosha Visiting Nurse Association, the influence vaccine cannot cause a bout of the flu. The organization has a question and answer sheet which states, "The influenza vaccine is made from highly purified, egg grown viruses that have been inactivated, therefore, the vaccine cannot cause influenza."

For more information about the flu or about the vaccine program, call (414) 656-7380.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children and seniors. Start your Homecoming morning off on the right foot while supporting these wonderful organizations by stopping in for breakfast. Tickets will be available at the door as well as from organization members.

Parking to be limited at school

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Village Board has approved a measure to limit parking near the Antioch Grade School. This action is pending a discussion with school officials and area businesses.

"It seems parents are parking on the south side of Depot Street," said Antioch Village Manager Tim Wells. "It is raising potential safety problems."

The parking restrictions would be limited to certain times during the day, in particular in the mornings and afternoons. "I want limited times," said Wells. "I just don't know what they are yet."

Trustee Wayne Foresta had some concern regarding enforcement of the proposed restrictions. "How are we going to enforce it?" he asked Wells.

Wells suggested having police officers stationed there. "We could have policemen the first few times," said Wells.

"You probably want a no standing prohibition as well," suggested Trustee Marvin Oldenburger. The board agreed and a no stopping/standing/parking sign was proposed pending a discussion with the schools and businesses.

Central Baptist to open new day care facility

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Central Baptist Children's Home is set to break ground on a state-of-the-art child care facility.

The Lake Villa facility will renovate one of the existing buildings on site and expand it to provide day care for 100 children aged six months to kindergarten. Ground breaking ceremonies are expected on Sept. 28 at 12:30 p.m.

"We surveyed the Lindenhurst and Lake Villa communities and found there was a lack of infant care available," said Amy Younts of Central Baptist.

On hand to give short speeches will be State Sen. Adeline Geokaris (R-31st) and Lake Villa Mayor Frank Loffredo.

To ease traffic problems, the entrance to the home will be changed to align with Cedar Avenue.

Metra station and the Park Place Industrial Park.

"With the Metra station and the Park Place Industrial Park there will be a great need for day care," Younts said.

In addition, the home will be located only a few blocks from the commuter station.

The plan is to have a complete day-care facility from infants through toddler age and have a full-day Kindergarten class as well.

Bad dog

Two Antioch children were bitten by a dog-at-large on Sept. 23. The children were walking when the dog ran through an open gate, bared its teeth, chased the children, and then bit them. When officers cornered the dog, it was learned the 12-year-old mixed breed, Samantha, had neither shots nor a license. The owner, Maria J. Hapkowski was ticketed and released on bond.

Theft from auto

Brian L. Callas, 19, of Antioch was arrested and charged with theft from an automobile on Sept. 23. Witnesses told police they saw Callas open the victims car and remove something from it. Callas returned the box, worth roughly $100, was charged with the crime and released on bond. He has an Oct. 16 court date.

Grass Lake Road gas station, market robbed at gun point

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The 76 Gas Station and Kwik Pantry Food Store on Grass Lake Road and Route 59 fell victim to a successful robbery attempt Tuesday morning.

According to Sergeant Rick Eckenstahler of the Lake County Sheriff's Department, a white male entered the business at 2:25 a.m. early Tuesday morning. The offender was wearing a hooded sweatshirt with a hat pulled down over his eyes.

The man then allegedly waived a semi-automatic handgun at an employee and repeatedly told her "give me the money." The employee handed over less than $200 and the man left the building on foot.

"It was pretty quick," said Eckenstahler.

What may aid in the investigation is the fact the market had close circuit cameras in place. Detectives are hoping the camera caught a good picture of the offender.

The particular corner, Grass Lake and Route 59 is no stranger to crime.

The bank across street was robbed through the drive-thru teller window by a man on a snowmobile. The FBI is still investigating.

Python found in Grayslake

More than likely a person in the downtown Grayslake area has lost a pet after police discovered a three-foot long ball python on the sidewalk in front of True Value Hardware.

Police put the African forest reptile in a sack and called Dr. Mike Korn, the associate dean of biological and health sciences at College of Lake County. Korn said the adult snake is a friendly animal and is most likely someone's pet from the nearby area. The animal can not survive in cold weather and would most likely be run over if it tried to cross the street because it is so slow.—by NEAL TUCKER

It's Homecoming week here in the Antioch area

The ALL Parent Network and The Music Parents are joining efforts and sponsoring a pancake breakfast on Saturday, Sept. 30 from 7 to 11:30 a.m. The breakfast is an all-you-can-eat affair and includes a fruit and muffin bar as well. The event will be held in the Antioch Community High School cafeteria and the price is $5 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and kids high school age and under. So, why not stop in at the high school, eat a warm and hearty breakfast, then trot up to Main Street to watch the big parade? Or, for those of you who are non-parade seekers, stop in while the parade is going on. You know you'll be uptown running all those usual Saturday morning errands anyway, so why deal with closed streets and full parking lots when you can sit back and enjoy a good home cooked breakfast.

The money raised will be shared by both organizations: The ALL Parent Network will be using its share of the profits to sponsor their annual post-prom activities, which will be held this year aboard the Anita Dee II. The Music Parents plan to use their share of the money to help out the band and music programs at the high school. So, all you folks in Antioch, help support these high school kids and show them that the older generations are there for them.

Also, don't forget this is the weekend the ALL Network is hosting their Red Ribbon Weekend in Lake Villa and Lindenhurst. So, if you are heading out of town to avoid all the homecoming hoopla, hopefully your travels will take you through one of our neighborhoods to the south so you can fill their coffers with monetary donations. Boy, these are some smart folks — they got just about every corner covered this weekend! Good luck to both organizations and, folks, be generous!

Library news

Don't forget that next weekend, Oct. 6 and 7, the Antioch Library Friends will be hosting their Annual Book Sale at the library. Book donations in good, clean condition can be dropped off at the library Thursday, Oct. 5. Also, volunteers are needed to help work during the sale itself. You don't have to be a member of the Friends group to help out and they won't persistently try to recruit you or laden you with information pamphlets or membership forms. There's just a need for some help and they were hoping some of you townfolk with a few free minutes might be of some assistance.

Now I don't think you will be entitled to any employee discounts, but you certainly will have the privilege of meeting some very interesting people. So if you can help out, even if it's for a short period of time, call Gail at 395-6588, or Marcia at 395-7006. Don't forget to mark your calendars for Oct. 6 and 7!

No envy here

Well, it's homecoming week here at our very own Antioch Community High School, or ACHS as most of us fondly refer to it. It's been a lot of years since I attended a homecoming dance, but I'm sure not much has changed. I don't envy any of you homecoming attendees, what a nerve-wracking experience. One's self-esteem can be lifted or destroyed in that one night. Six weeks before the big event, tensions run high as everyone anticipates who their dream date will be. The girls are sickly sweet to the guys,

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

LYNN

and the guys actually become quite charming.

It's a fact of life that the most popular, pretty, cute, spunky, active and well-liked girls get all the good dates; the rest have to settle for a cross between Urkel and Mr. Rogers — deal with it. Of course, everyone wants the perfect escort to the festivities: not too tall, not too sort, good-looking, witty, football captain, head cheerleader, someone who won't clash with your hair color and, of course, the absolute must — one who is able to obtain a mode of transportation that doesn't include a scooter or a skateboard. Once the pairing up takes place, the girls must discover their perfect evening attire: just the right color and style with that distinguished pizzazz, but not gaudy or suggestive.

The big night finally arrives and your parents videotape your every move, from answering the door to pinning on your corsage. It's pose, pose, pose for those photos, mom gushes she bought a roll with 48 exposures just for this night — thank you, Kodak! Then, it's off to dinner at a swanky restaurant where your date tries to look sophisticated in his rented tux and polished shoes as he tries to figure out what fork to use, while you desperately fish in your water glass to get the lemon out.

The entrees are ordered, the food arrives, and the young lady picks and nibbles at her selection (eating even a morsel may cause one to look fat and cause buttons and zippers to start popping) while the young gentleman inhales his plate in one chunk, including the parsley garnish. Now, we have the "how much tip to leave" ordeal. Fast food establishments don't offer a whole lot of expertise in this field. Finally, it's off to the dance. After about ten minutes of mingling, all the girls are in the bathroom either crying or consoling a crying friend who is sure her life at school is over because the wrong boy asked her out, or the shade of flowers he brought was all wrong.

The couples meet back up and dance a few slow dances which consist of her arms around his neck and his arms around her waist as they walk around in a small circle swaying back and forth. Dance lessons should be included in the price of the tickets. Coronation time arrives, with more crying, and everyone whispers about the quarter-size pimple on the king's forehead and the sleazy dress the queen is wearing.

The dance concludes, the lights go on, and everyone scrambles in the brightness to find their date and return them home before curfew — the agony is almost over. Monday at school everyone raves about what a good time they had, even though several toes were stepped on and many hearts were broken. Oh, did we ever think we would make it through those awkward years when being popular and pretty were so important?

How did us plain, ordinary kids ever survive with a shred of self-esteem and live to tell about those dark years? Relax, all of you high school kids going through this, I never was popular, pretty, or perky and, you know, I still managed to find a decent husband, get a good paying job, build a comfortable house, and maintain my integrity — who would have thought that all to be possible considering my position on the high school popularity poll? So, if some of you find yourself sitting home Saturday night watching reruns, don't be too concerned, your pride may be a little bruised, but your life isn't over — it hasn't even begun. And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle" — don't forget to call 395-6364.

YMCA offers youth sports

The Hastings Lake YMCA is aiming to fill the gap in area youth sports. This fall, the YMCA is offering t-ball and soccer for children 4 to 6 years old.

"We started the youth sports program with 4 to 6 year olds because in surrounding communities there was nothing for them," said Denise Barr, program director for youth sports.

The t-ball program lasts for five weeks. Children are learning to throw, hit, and catch. The program costs $15 for members and $20 for nonmembers.

The soccer program is for eight weeks and costs $30 for members and $40 for nonmembers. Instructors are teaching the basics. "They're learning how to control the ball. They're having fun and interacting with others," said Barr.

In both programs participants will play a full game in the final week of the program.

Barr said the YMCA is hoping to continue the program during the winter with basketball for children in first to fifth grade.

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Thousands are expected to rid their homes of potentially dangerous materials at the first ever Baxter Round Lake Technology Park "Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day."

Baxter, along with the villages of Antioch, Lake Villa, Round Lake, Round Lake Beach, Round Lake Park, and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency are sponsoring the event to be held Oct. 7 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. There is no charge to bring in waste materials.

The program is for people throughout the entire county, according to Baxter.

IEPA employees will pick up materials at the William Graham Building on the Baxter site near the intersection of Rte. 120 and Wilson Road. Signs will mark the way.

The IEPA will also determine which chemicals can and can't be accepted. Among the welcome items are paint, paint remover, insecticides, weed killer, fungicides, aerosol projects, solvents, household cleaners, metal polishes, prescriptions, used motor oil, antifreeze, old gasoline, pool chemicals, drain cleaner and others.

Not acceptable are fireworks, explosives, propane tanks, fire extinguishers, smoke detectors, business wastes, farm machinery oil, and agricultural chemicals.

Jeff Wynveen, Baxter safety manager, said the state hires a hazardous waste contractor to come in and dispose of the chemicals properly. "Some of them are incinerated and some are treated so they're not hazardous any longer," Wynveen said.

Wynveen explained the company contacted the state about the program in May. Originally the Baxter Healthcare Corporation wanted to get involved with a hazardous waste pickup held in Waukegan in the spring. They applied but another company got to use their site.

Baxter in Round Lake is happy they are providing the manpower and location for the fall program, said Wynveen.

Already he has received hundreds of inquiries about the project, Wynveen said.

Basketball

A-team basketball for 13-through 17-year-olds. Fees of $30/$35/$40 includes a jersey. The first half-hour will be devoted to shooting and warm-ups, then a match-up for scrimmage. Location and times to be announced. Call the park district for details.

Aikido

This class will be an introduction to the Japanese martial art, covering the basic fundamentals and providing a foundation for continuing practice. Students ages 14 and up should wear loose fitting clothing that covers knees and elbows. The course will be 12 weeks long and will be held on Fridays from 7 to 9 p.m. at the senior center.

Basic body toning

A toning class for ages 12 and up which works on arms, abs, legs, back and lower back.

Working with exercise bands or weights. To be held at the senior center from 9 to 10 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Calligraphy

This popular art form has many practical applications. The class is appropriate for beginning and intermediate skill levels. Materials will not be needed to start. Runs for eight weeks. For ages 13 and up. To be held on Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Antioch Upper Grade School starting Sept. 26 and running through Nov. 14.

Clay for fun

Come on, admit it—you like to play with clay. Well, it's not just for kids these days. Projects will focus on traditional and non-traditional hand building techniques as well as the opportunity to work on the potter's wheel. Materials will cost $10 to $20 and are not included in the fee of $40/$45/$50. Ages 13 and up. To be held at the Antioch Upper Grade from 7 to 9 p.m. starting Sept. 28 and ending Nov. 16 on Thursdays.

Village campus

A program designed to provide a relaxed, protected, home-like environment for children in the first through sixth grade whose parents are unable to be home during the before- or after-school hours. On some school holidays, full-day campus will be in session with special activities. To be held at the Antioch Lower Grade/Scout House locations from 7 a.m.-school; dismissal-6 p.m. during school days. Fees are $2 per day (a.m.); $8 per day (p.m.); $12 day for selected holidays.

For information on these or any other Antioch Parks and Recreation Dept. programs, call 395-2160.

Churchill addresses gambling laws - NEW ARRIVALS

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Riverboats and gambling are divisive issue in Illinois and Majority Leader Bob Churchill said the gambling issue really comes to what Chicago Mayor Richard Daley will do.

The Lake Villa legislator says Democratic support is needed in the state senate. He said Chicago Mayor Richard Daley will have to be the standard bearer for gambling legislation to move.

"If the mayor of Chicago wants riverboats he will have to give the direction," Churchill said.

Churchill added Senate Democrats haven't supported a gambling package without the mayor.

Churchill has been opposed to casino-style gambling. He said the trend appears to be moving in that direction. He fears a slippery-slope phenomenon where gambling gradually moves towards and becomes casino gambling.

"In Rock Island they are complaining because they can't dock the boat. They are looking for an excuse to dock a boat and then gambling on the building next to the dock," Churchill said.

Republicans are open to suggestions, but haven't announced a formal plan. He said there has been talk of transferring licenses from some areas to others.

"Do they want to move to a place where they can make $13 million a month instead of $1 million a month," Churchill said sarcastically.

Churchill was speaking to members of the Round Lake Chamber of Commerce & Industry members.

He said even Lake County communities chasing a license such as Fox Lake, North Chicago and Waukegan still would have to wait until the Chicago issue is decided.

He added there may be discussion of riverboats during the next legislative session.

PADS homeless shelters to open Oct. 1

The CONNECTION/PADS (Public Action to Deliver Shelter) program is ready on Oct. 1 to begin its ninth season serving the homeless people of Lake County. Over 2,300 trained volunteers from local congregations, organizations and groups will be providing shelter, food and hospitality during the cold weather months to homeless men, women, and children.

There are PADS shelters located in Antioch, Grayslake, Gurnee, Libertyville, Lindenhurst, Mundelein, Wauconda, Waukegan and Wildwood. They open at 7 p.m. and close at 7 a.m. during the cold weather season from Oct. 1 through April 30. There are at least two and sometimes three shelters open each night. They are located in 14 churches and one Park District facility. Guests are provided with a nutritious dinner and a light breakfast. They also are given a sack lunch before leaving in the morning. Individuals and families needing a place to spend the night are welcome on a first-come basis. Limited shuttle bus service is provided from Connection's PADS+ Resource Center at 214 S. Genesee in downtown Waukegan to and from hard to reach shelters.

Orientation sessions are available to prepare anyone over 18 who is interested in becoming a PADS volunteer. Orientations are scheduled in Grayslake at the College of Lake County from 7 to 10 Oct. 18 and at PADS+ Resource Center on Oct. 8, and at St. Anastasia Catholic Church on Nov. 5. For more information, call the CONNECTION/PADS office at 362-3381.

Ride into fall on a horse-drawn hay wagon

Hitch a ride in a horse-drawn hay wagon and admire the harvest moon reflecting off Lake County Forest Preserves' Sterling Lake on Saturday, Sept. 30 at "Horse-drawn Hayrides I."

Join others around the campfire in Van Patten Woods Forest Preserve before embarking on your ride. Choose from three times: 6:30, 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. (adults only). Guided by a Forest Preserve naturalist, participants will enjoy an hour-long ride filled with nature stories and songs, and the opportunity to see night animals in action. Van Patten Woods is located on Rte. 173, just west of Rte. 41 near Wadsworth.

Or, spend the afternoon under the palette of autumn colors at "Horsedrawn Hayrides II" on Sunday, Oct. 1 at McDonald Woods Forest Preserve. Choose from three times: 1, 2 and 3 p.m. All ages invited. Spaces are still available for both hayride programs, but reservations are required. The fee is $11 ($7 for Lake County residents). Refreshments will be available for purchase.

For more information and to make a reservation, call 948-7750.

One less criminal sexual assault was reported in 1994. There were two reported. There were three robberies in 1994 and one aggravated assault/battery. Burglary was down to 30 incidents in 1994 compared to 36 in 1993. Thefts in 1994 were down, with 384 as compared to 399 in 1993.

The only significant increase was in car theft. A 23.1 percent increase was reported in 1994. According to Watkins, in all cases the cars were returned. The crimes were committed by a group of juveniles.

"There was no indication of a professional theft ring," said Watkins of the thefts. Instead, officers learned, through their involvement with Lake County Auto Theft Task Force, the cars were being used as transportation to Waukegan.

Watkins said a similar number of cars were taken from Waukegan and left in Antioch. "They stole five cars from Antioch," said Watkins. "And, roughly they stole five from Waukegan. They weren't even old enough to drive."

No damage was done to the cars. "They were clean steals with no damage and an empty gas tank," said Watkins.

Watkins believes many of these thefts can be prevented. "Three quarters of the cars we have stolen are the result of keys left in the ignition or the visor," he said. "These days, it is imperative to use the security measure available in automobiles. Simply keeping the spare key in your wallet will help."

Theft from auto, according to Watkins is the biggest problem lately. He said young people roaming the streets at night "looking for open cars" is keeping the Antioch Police Department busy.

"They way to prevent this is to lock your cars," explains Watkins. He said the young people take loose change and other items left in open cars.

The crime statistics also indicated an increase in arson fires. "Two of the three arsons we had were cars stolen from other communities and brought to Antioch to be burnt," said Watkins.

Overall, Watkins seemed happy with the revised statistics. Earlier reporting methods tending to cause confusion, particularly in the area of burglaries.

The new reporting standards removed theft from auto from the burglary category. Burglary is now defined, by state officials, as breaking into a structure.

"The guidelines are more clear to accurately delineate the specific crime," said Watkins. "It is more concise."

Caution must be exercised when reviewing the crime statistics, particularly in a small town such as Antioch. For example, since no murders were reported in 1994, if a murder did occur in 1995, the statistics would show a substantial percentage increase. That would be despite the fact only one murder occurred.

The Antioch Police Department has added an additional officer to the force using federal grant money. Watkins believes the enlarged force will help to deter crime.

"Whenever you have more people on the street, it does help," he said.

Antioch soccer aims to improve in time for playoffs

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

It's the case of the ball not bouncing your way.

The Antioch boys soccer team has played its opponents close, but two losses to Libertyville and Stevenson quickly put Antioch out of the North Suburban Conference race.

"We've been playing well, but we just haven't been getting the breaks," explained Coach Brad Wilson.

In the 2-1 loss to Libertyville, Tad Harper squeaked Antioch's sole goal. Stevenson scored the game-winning goal in the final minute to hand Antioch a 3-2 loss. James Patterson tallied both scores.

"We out-shot Stevenson, but they made their shots count," Wilson said.

Last season, the Sequoits shared the conference title with both Stevenson and Libertyville. Wilson now has his doubts about another conference title.

"With a loss to both teams, we're pretty much out of it, unless something miraculous happens," Wilson said. "I think we can take third. We have a lot of pride, and we're still trying to win games."

The team's record has dropped to 3-9 overall and 0-2 in conference.

At the same time, Wilson has high hopes. He likes the fact that his team has been playing well enough to win which can become deceiving during playoff time.

"We may not be seeded very well, so we might be able to knock off a few teams in the playoffs," Wilson noted.

The coach cannot explain why the team has not been able to seal the victories. An interesting note, however, is the Antioch defense has scored almost as many goals as the offense. Defenders have racked up 7 goals versus 9 goals for the offense.

Patterson, Harper, Scott Landgren and Bill Johnson lead the defense.

"I don't know what it is. In terms of aggressiveness, the defense has come forward," Wilson said. "The offense has been trying to place the ball too much."

He did make an offensive change which he hopes pays dividends. Cal Cruickshank was moved from the defense to sweeper.

"Cal has been playing very well as sweeper," Wilson said. "He has stepped up and done a very good job."

In the meantime, the Sequoits will be fine-tuning against Wheeling at home Friday before visiting Mundelein.

"Once the ball starts bouncing our way, we'll start getting the wins," Wilson said.

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

When one looks back at the 1995 Warren High School Blue Devils, the football season should really be divided into two parts.

Part I: Blue Devils lose three straight against probable if not certain playoff bound teams. Two losses, to Lake Forest and Stevenson, are blowouts while the third game was a near steal of a win against Libertyville.

Part II: Blue Devils regroup, make adjustments on the offensive line and defense and quarterback Don Hirschfeld and Tim Markus provide a dynamic duo.

The second week of the second part of the season was complete Friday as Hirschfeld ran for three touchdowns in a 26-0 whitewash of Antioch.

"I stayed in the pocket a lot longer. The offensive line did an excellent job," Hirschfeld said after a 104-yard passing night.

The biggest change, literally and figuratively, for Warren was moving Paul Gewalt, a 5-foot, 8-inch, 210 pound junior, to center and moving Drew Sabor, a 5-11, 240 pound senior, to a tackle position.

"We felt we were weak at tackle and we wanted to play power football. Gewalt worked hard and was the center for the sophomores and junior varsity. We felt we should give him a try. Overall, he did well," Warren Coach Reggie Hughes said.

Gewalt is expected to be back as the snapper to Hirschfeld for the next contest - the Sept. 30 Homecoming game at 1 p.m. against Zion-Benton.

"The first three teams we played are what, 11-1. All three will be in the playoffs. We are not there yet, but now we are playing Warren football," Hughes said.

Markus (79 yards in receiving) set up both Hirschfeld short runs for TD's with long gains. Hirschfeld led the senior perfectly after he got past the Antioch secondary.

"I just concentrate on the spiral of the ball," Markus said.

Hirschfeld may have had doubts early, but now believes starting the season against the powers helped.

"It helped me to read the defenses better," he said.

Warren used an option attack, giving Zion plenty to work on from scouting reports. The 6-2 defense also was a new wrinkle.

"I noticed we were flat coming out, so I had to do something to get them hyped up," Hughes said.

The loss eliminated any slim hopes of Antioch (1-4, 0-3) for playoff contention. They host East Aurora Sept. 30 in the Homecoming clash.

"That was not the way they played against Lake Forest. Warren made us miss," Antioch Coach Del Pechauer said.

Lack of field position hurt the Antioch offense.

"Everything we did was to key on Quejuan Greathouse and then we had to make adjustments," Mike Gordy, defensive coordinator, said.

Greathouse rushed for 43 yard, but Hirschfeld had 138, Wes Harris 26 and Luis Castellanos 24 yards.

Hirschfeld connected with Markus for a 38-yard strike and Scott Clark caught a key pass on third-and-five, allowing Hirschfeld to scamper up the middle for a 4-yard TD run with 8:47 left in the first quarter.

Antioch got the game's first break, one of several first half turnovers, when a punt turned into a live ball and Warren failed to cover it. The Sequoits, as would be indicative of the rest of this cold night in Gurnee, lost 15 yards on the series.

Mitch Hameister and Markus are becoming the generals of the Warren secondary. Hameister's second interception in as many weeks set up the second score. He had a fumble recovery the next series and three plays later Hirschfeld scored from his favorite spot on the field.

"Hameister is really coming into his own," Hughes said.

When the defensive back was not playing havoc with Antioch ball carriers heading in his direction, Bryan Doering was making life miserable for Antioch QB Walter Martens. Doing his best Richard Dent imitation, the senior "played with his ears turned back a bit," according to Hughes.

Shamell Barnes ended a 10-play Antioch second period drive with an interception along the sideline.

Hirschfeld ran to the sideline and kept going 74 yards for the third score on the fourth period's third play.

Zion and St. Charles are ahead for Warren - and will determine if there will be a Part III - the playoffs.

"We still have a lot of improvement, but we are getting there," Hughes said.

Views On Dental Health

By Brian Gniadek, D.D.S.

PERIODONTAL DISEASE-EARLY DIAGNOSIS

You have just completed your regular dental checkup. You breathe a deep sigh of relief. "No cavities, but your gums are in poor shape." You are mistakenly relieved. The sad fact is that more teeth are lost because of periodontal disease (gum disease) than from any other factor, including cavities.

Fortunately, it can be treated successfully if it is diagnosed early. Unfortunately, you have no way of knowing of its onset other than by dental examination because there is normally no pain or other symptoms in its early stages.

Once this silent disorder advances, though, the gums and even the jawbone may become inflamed and eventually break down. But this extreme can be avoided if the dentist regularly examines your mouth both visually and with x-rays. He can determine whether there have been any changes in the mouth tissues or the bone around the teeth. He will also look for early tooth decay, impaction, tumors in the jaw area and abscesses in tooth roots. To insure healthy gums and teeth, you must combine regular dental examinations with effective brushing and flossing.

Durney, underclassmen lead pack of Antioch runners

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Like the Energizer Rabbit, Antioch's Megan Durney keeps on running and running and run-

'We're going to have a lot of fun next Monday against Stevenson and Libertyville. It's going to be one of those meets where you close your eyes, toss a coin and hope for the best.'

—Dick Harland

ning—and keeps on getting faster and faster.

The competitive Crystal Lake South Invite was no exception where she bested her own personal time there by 10 seconds and finished with a fourth-place 13:42 time.

"She had three girls get away from her at the start that she didn't realized," noted Coach Dick Harland.

Antioch runners finished a respectable fourth overall in the 16-team event.

As has been the case all season, the underclassmen runners improved their times as well to further Antioch's cause. Sophomores Esther Rothermel and Christina "Mouse" Barbic and freshman Esther Scheuer all improved their best times in Crystal Lake by 50 or more seconds.

The Lady Sequoit runners went on to capture the Zion-Benton and North Chicago double dual conference meet. North Chicago did not feature any varsity runners, and Antioch defeated Zion-Benton 25-34. Five Antioch runners placed in the top 10 in Zion.

Durney was first with a 13:10, Rothermel was third with a 13:44, Scheuer was sixth with a 14:13, Barbic was seventh with a 14:15, and senior Beth Lennon finished with a 14:24.

"Our underclass girls ran in a pretty good pack," Harland noted. "Although the girls ran in a good time, they can do better because this was the first time many of the girls raced here."

Antioch will be hosting its own Invitational Saturday at Fox River Park. Fourteen schools will be represented including top cross country teams of Benet Academy, Buffalo Grove, Hersey and Prospect.

"It's going to be a tough competition. If we wound up in fourth or fifth, I'll be satisfied," Harland said.

The Antioch Invite aims to prepare the girls for the more important conference dual meet against Stevenson and Libertyville in Libertyville's Adler Park Oct. 2. All three cross country teams ended this week undefeated in conference duals.

"We're going to have a lot of fun next Monday against Stevenson and Libertyville," Harland said. "It's going to be one of those meets where you close your eyes, toss a coin and hope for the best."

With Durney leading the pack, Antioch may have the advantage of a two-headed coin as she keeps getting faster and faster...

Raiders capture third victory

The Antioch featherweight Raiders improved their record to 3-0 this season by defeating visiting McHenry 33-18.

Scores came from Allan Rapinchuk on runs of 10 and 47 yards. Bobby Grasser found paydirt on a 15-yard run. He also raced 65 yards on a kickoff return touchdown.

Quarterback Ryan Smart closed out the scoring with a 17-yard keeper.

Steve Ruthowski led the blocking charge on the offensive line.

Defensively, the Raiders had stellar games from Ryan Roberts, Reed Adams, Jason Wegel, Shane Spencer and Chris Orozlo.

Antioch hosts Warren at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Sequoit spikers look to rebound

The Lady Sequoit volleyball team suffered some setbacks last week before entering play this week.

Antioch dropped a non-conference grudge match against Carmel 15-10, 3-15, and 13-15. After winning the first game, the Sequoits suffered a moral loss when Jennifer Peterson went down with a sprained ankle.

In the deciding game, Antioch battled from a 11-2 deficit to force the 13-15 game.

Leading Antioch were Erin O'Connell with 7 kills, Peterson with 6 kills, Carrie Gofron with 6 points and Lisa Ipsen with 8 points.

Carmel was led by Sarah Worklan, who had 12 kills, and Gina Langer, who set up the offense with 22 assists.

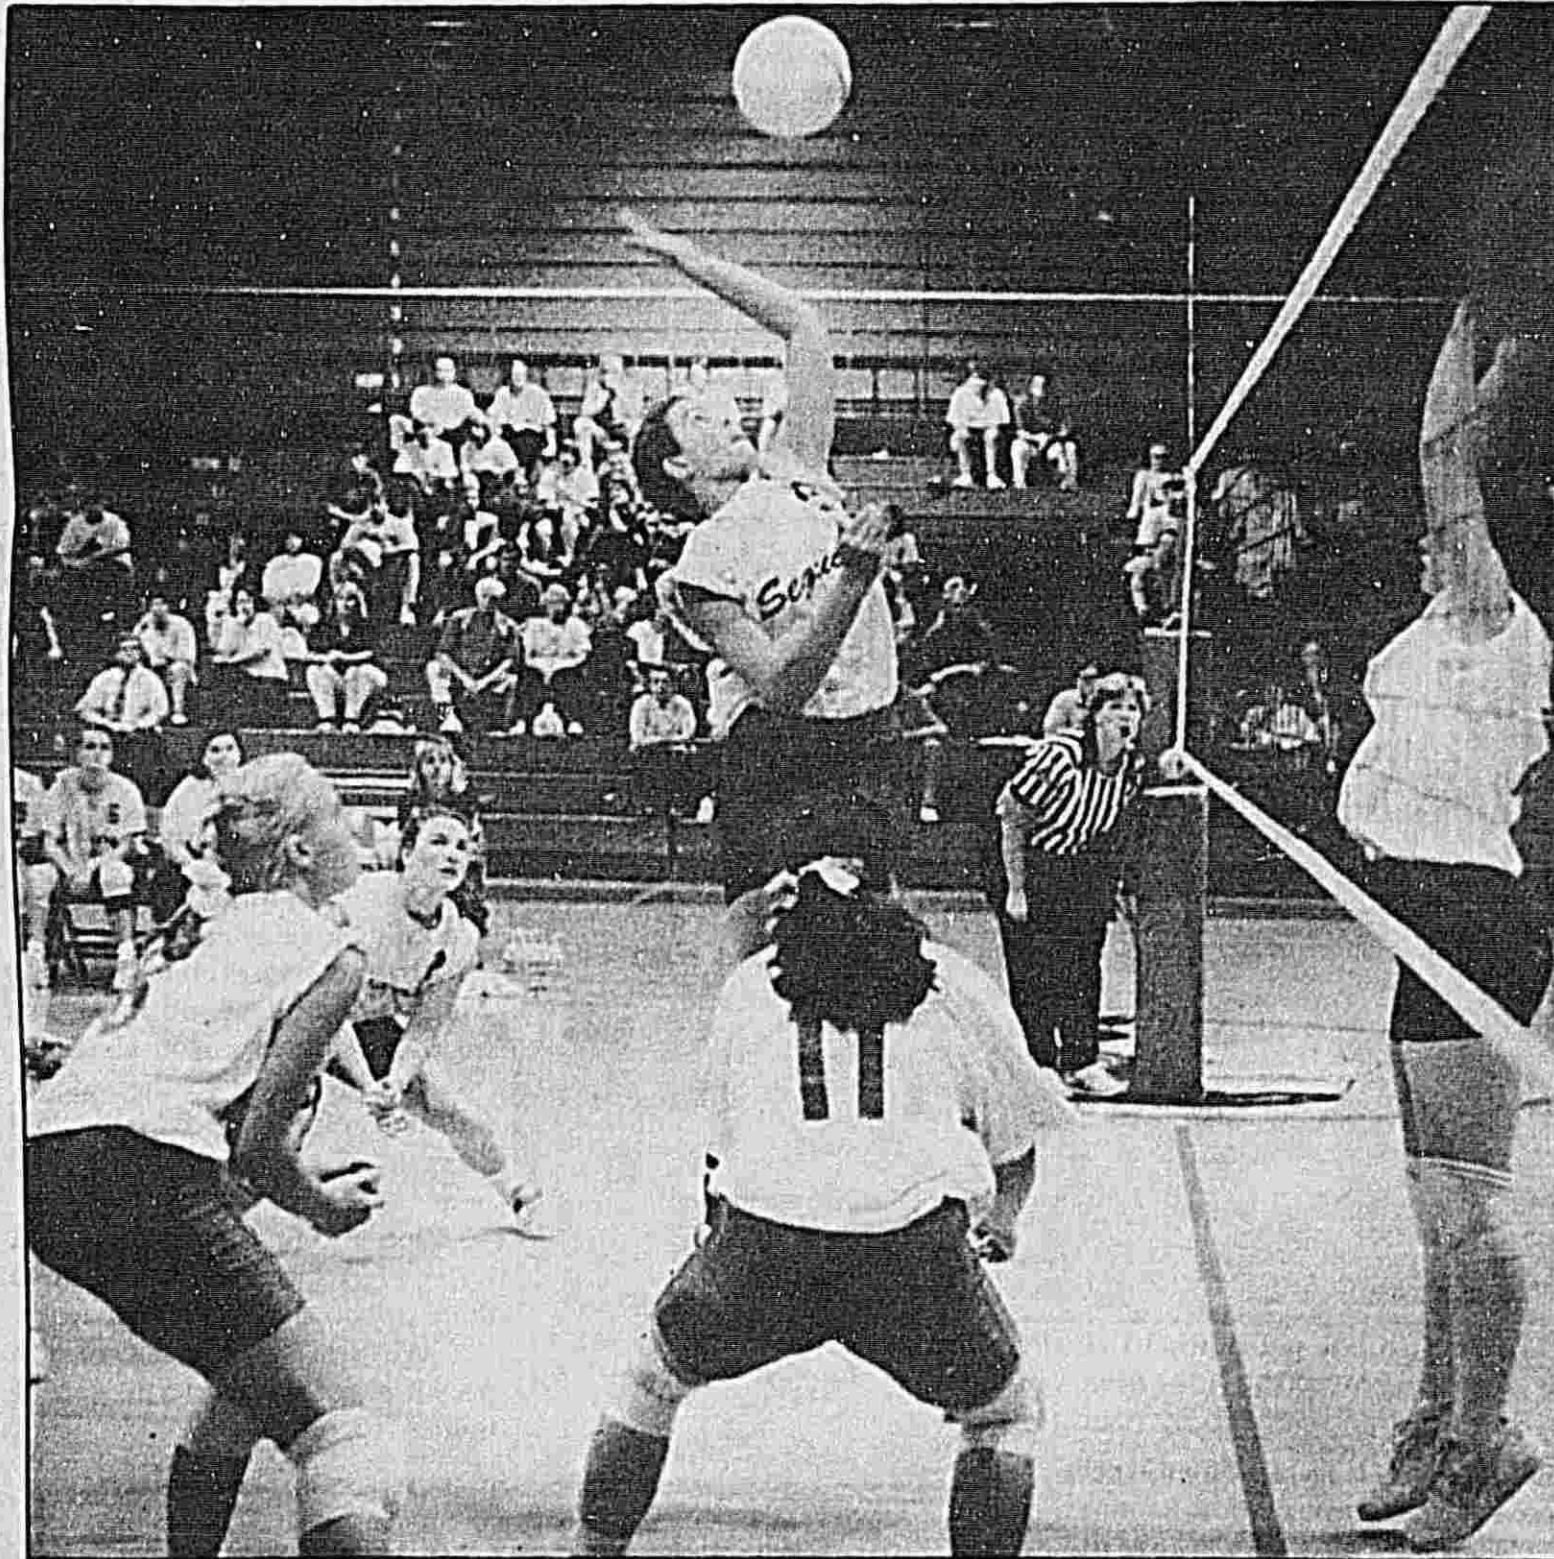

Antioch kept powerful Lake Forest honest, but lost the match 10-15, 10-15.

Julie Case helped Antioch's cause with 6 points and 4 kills. Mary Ipsen added 5 points.

The Lady Sequoits entered play this week with a 8-10 overall record and 1-2 showing in the North Suburban Conference.

Antioch was hoping to gain some conference ground after they hosted undefeated Mundelein Wednesday. The Lady Sequoits play host to Round Lake Friday in a non-conference match. Round Lake is leader in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

Game time for the varsity matches Monday against Fremd were changed. The varsity will play first at 5 p.m., with junior varsity teams following.

Viking lightweights continue march with 23rd straight win

Two-time defending lightweight football champion Antioch is off and running in search of its third straight Junior Football League of Northern Illinois title.

The lightweight Vikings have won three straight games this season to extend their unbeaten streak to 23 straight victories.

Wide receiver Mike Smith scored a pair of touchdowns on passes of 42 and 21 yards from quarterback Mark Purnell in leading Antioch to an impressive 32-0 shutout over Mundelein in the season opener.

Purnell connected on 7 of 11 passes for 189 yards and scored a TD on a 2-yard plunge. Tightend Nick Balen scored on a 4-yard slant pass, and Charles Pawlowski plowed forward on a 19-yard rush. Fullback Adam Niles scored a pair of extra points as the Vikings total 332 yards offensively.

Defensively, Antioch held Mundelein to just three first downs and limited them to 43 yards of offense. Standouts include Brad Groth, Niles, Balen, Dane Anderson, Brandon Flitcroft and Jarrod Lewis.

In game two, running back Eldon Rivelli scored two TDs on runs of 1 and 8 yards and the Vikings defensive unit recorded a safety as Antioch powered past Grayslake 14-0.

Rivelli totaled 64 yards while teammate Flitcroft added another 53 yards.

The Viking offensive charge was led by the linemen in the trenches including Balen, Nick Kocinski, Chris Kocinski, Greg Kalscheur, Lewis and Joe Kennedy.

A 33-yard pass to Balen set up the first score, and an option pass to Groth set up the second TD.

The blitzing of Balen and Jarrod Ponce led to the safety. Nose guard Pat Swanson notched three sacks. Rivelli recorded 11 tackles in the win.

Antioch went on to have an easy time against the Fox Lake Cardinals as the Vikings prevailed, 26-6.

Groth led the way with two TDs on runs of 8 and 25 yards. Niles rushed for 86 yards and scored from the 1-yardline. Niles also added an extra point.

Purnell sparked again as quarterback as he hit Smith on a 39-yard TD pass. Purnell connected on 10 of 15 passes. The Vikings piled up 331 yards of offense.

On defense, Jim Peters stopped a key Fox Lake drive with a sack. Swanson snatched an interception and a fumble recovery. Rob Lodesky and Chris Rogalla contributed to the defensive effort.

"Both our offensive and defensive lines have been controlling the line of scrimmage in these first three games," said Coach Rick Motley.

Heavys continue to dominate

The Antioch Vikings special teams set the tone early in the 34-6 victory over the Fox Lake Cardinals.

Matt Green and Kris Vanderkooy crushed would be blockers on the opening kickoff to pin the Cardinals deep in their own end zone. Three plays later, the Vikings punt receiving team was ready to show how special they could be. Blocking by Ryan Corcilus, Brian Harris, Lucas Denoma and Scott Hodina sprung Brandon Franke for a 45-yard touchdown sprint.

The Vikings had come to play. They scored four times in their first eight plays. Quinn Gooch, scored twice with bursts of 36 and 45 yards. Franke continued the successful ground attack with 39-yard sprint for his second score.

The Fox Lake offense was stalled by untimely penalties and the Vikings took over in the second half with their controlled running game lead by George Gitten and Brian Griffin. Dave Ostaman's perfect read of an attempted screen pass lead to a 40-yard touchdown interception and closed out the Vikings scoring.

Vikings meet undefeated Warren at 2:30 p.m. Sunday on the Sequoia varsity field.

Blitz, Rockers gain wins

Blitz

It was a total Blitz domination as they traveled to face Team Evanston. Winning by a score of 5-1, it was the third straight victory for Lindenhurst, keeping them undefeated at 3-0.

The Blitz spent most of the first half in the Evanston end of the field, scoring four times. Becca Bleyer had three goals with assists from Amie Carlberg and Allison Earl. Sondra Lorang pushed home another goal.

The final Blitz tally came from Carrie Gofron on a pass from Nichole Wright.

Team Evanston was awarded a goal on a controversial call after Blitz keeper Melissa Helbig made a stunning save late in the game. The referee said Helbig appeared to cross the plane of the goal line.

The Lindenhurst starting defense (Earl, Katie Hoskins, Jill Denoma, and Elly Elfering) played very tough allowing only 11 shots in 90 minutes.

Also having an outstanding game were Susan Woodruff and newcomer Rachel Cashman.

Rockers

The Rockers traveled to Arlington Park and defeated the Aces 4-0 improving their record to 2-0-1. The Rockers dominated play, outshooting the home team 18-1.

Kelly O'Connell opened the scoring on a passing play from Annie Heath and Erin Peacy. Vicky Garrison and Tanya Earl each scored in the first half with both goals assisted by Lauren Cole.

The midfielders for the Rockers controlled the flow of the game led by Miranda Korbal, Beth Fries, and Robyn Mortenson.

The defense allowed only one shot on net led by Theresa Gosciniak, Michelle Lenczuk, and Christine Lanning.

WE CAN HELP WITH YOUR CREDIT PROBLEMS

We've Lowered the Cost of a Mammogram to $20. Think of What You Could Save.

Obviously, you can save a few dollars. But more importantly, a $20 mammogram could save your life. Because this safe, low-dosage X-ray can detect a tumor long before you can see or feel it. At Midwestern Regional Medical Center in Zion, your mammogram will be performed by a conscientious technologist who is an expert in mammography and breast examination. Following the procedure, an experienced radiologist will examine and interpret your X-rays and forward the results to your primary care physician. If you or someone you love needs a mammogram, please call our imaging services department at 708-731-4100 to schedule an appointment. At only $20,

Calabresa smells politics behind Martin's mailings

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Libertyville County Board member Carol Calabresa believes her lack of support for County Board Chairman Bob Depke may be the reason behind political activist Jack Martin's latest "malicious" attack against her.

Martin has long been critical of Calabresa as well as Libertyville Mayor Jo Ann Eckmann and State Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville). Martin is also a Libertyville resident and business leader.

In his latest round of mailings, Martin claimed Calabresa received a "secret" $5,228 tax break in the assessed valuation of her home between 1993 and 1994 from former Libertyville Township Assessor William Swanson.

Calling Martin a "loose canon," Calabresa refuted Martin's $5,000 tax savings charge. She said she paid $5,240.42 in taxes in 1993. After the lower assessment, she paid $5,068.24 in 1994, and in 1995 she paid $5,194.76 for a total $217 savings in the two-year frame.

'I'm only 10 months into a four-year term. This is not in the heat of a campaign for me, so what else are Jack's motivations.'

— Carol Calabresa County Board Member

degree, Calabresa believes Martin's "incestuous relationship with the party" and the mailings may be a scare tactic to discourage some potential independent candidates not to run against current incumbents and Depke supporters such as Richard Raftis of Wildwood, Ed Fojak of Fox Lake, Robert Graciano of Fox Lake, and Schullen of Libertyville and Depke himself in Gurnee. All are up for reelection next year.

"I'm only 10 months into a four-year term. This is not in the heat of a campaign for me, so what else are Jack's motivations," Calabresa questioned.

Regardless of Martin's intentions, Calabresa said she is seeking legal advice for possible libel, slander or harassment suits against Martin for the mailings.

"His mailings were grossly inaccurate. They are malicious," Calabresa said. "Somebody needs to call him on this and stop him."

Salvi makes Senate candidacy official

NEAL TUCKER

Staff Reporter

It's official.

State Rep. Al Salvi (R-52nd) has confirmed he is running for the U.S. Senate in 1996.

During same-day campaign rallies in Chicago and the Lake County Republican headquarters in Libertyville, State Rep. Al Salvi (R-Wauconda) will make the official announcement Sept. 29. Reaffirming he is the most electable Republican candidate in Illinois, Salvi will speak before several hundred enthusiastic supporters while making the bid to fill the Senate seat of Paul Simon, who announced earlier this year he will not run for reelection.

Salvi said he was not surprised Lt. Governor Bob Kustra has received the endorsement of several state Republicans, but said he only has half of the party's endorsement. Salvi said he has secured the endorsement of several powerful Republicans, raised more money than Kustra and already has a campaign office in Palatine up and running.

Urges public to look at Kustra's record

After his announcement, Salvi did not waste time in attacking the record of his opponent. He accused Kustra of riding the bandwagon on conservatism since the landslide Republican victory in the November 1994 election.

"Right now, the political winds are blowing in the conservative direction. When they were blowing the other way, Bob wasn't here. I was," Salvi said.

Salvi is confident his record matched with Kustra's record as a state senator will prove his point that Kustra has wavered and he has not.

Salvi said he has always voted against higher taxes, big spending and has proposed creative solutions to cut spending. He said Kustra's record was quite the opposite.

"As a senator, Bob voted for 35 tax increases, including an income tax," Salvi said.

Salvi cited Illinois Politics magazine on a study they did of Kustra's record when compared to former gubernatorial candidate Dawn Clarke Netsch, who Kustra said never saw a tax she didn't like. The magazine determined Kustra was a bigger spender than Netsch based on his senate voting record.

Salvi said Kustra has also been liberal when it comes to issues such as gun control, abortion and special rights for homosexuals. Looking down the road, Salvi also compared Kustra to Dick Durbin, who he thinks is the likely Democratic nomination.

"Electing Kustra in the primary would be a nightmare for the Republicans. Kustra would not be able to attack Durbin on his biggest weakness, which is big spending. If it is the clash of the big spenders, the Democrats have a chance of winning this seat," Salvi said.

Murderer's death closes door, questions remain

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

Former Spring Grove resident Charles Albanese was put to death last week for the murders of three family members but for some connected to the case, the questions regarding it will forever burn.

"It's always gonna kind of be in the back

Final In a three-part series

brother Michael also became ill from the poison but survived.

Albanese's execution went quickly and quietly. "I wish he'd have died like they (the victims) did. It was kind of like when the vet puts your pet down," said Lantz. "Maybe he felt some mental anguish, but no (physical) pain," she explained.

Another witness to the execution, Jan Johnson, news director of WKRS Radio in Waukegan agrees. "I don't feel I saw Charles Albanese die, I feel I saw Charles Albanese go to sleep," she said.

Will County Coroner Pat O'Neil listed Albanese's death strangely as "homicide," the same cause listed for his relatives' demise. Nic Howell, chief public information officer for the Illinois Department of Corrections said homicide is always listed when a prisoner has been executed.

Albanese's wishes were to have his body cremated and his ashes scattered about the Colorado Mountains. According to his Attorney Roger Webber, Albanese told Father Hayes, a priest who visited him often at the Menard Correctional Center that he wished to have his ashes taken to Hayes' parish cemetery, St. Joseph in downstate Willsville.

After coming in contact with the youngest daughter of his first marriage who resides in Colorado, Albanese made arrangements to have his ashes given to the daughter who in turn will scatter them about the Rocky Mountains.

After defending Albanese since January of 1990, Webber said he's glad the ordeal is over. See DEATH page B2 of your mind," said McHenry County Coroner Marlene Lantz.

Lantz was one of a group of authorities who worked long and hard on the case for seven months in 1981 prior to Albanese's arrest. She keeps a pair of handcuffs the convict wore when he was first placed under arrest shortly before Thanksgiving in 1981, just as a reminder.

On Sept. 20 Lantz took a front row seat at Albanese's lethal injection execution at the Stateville Penitentiary.

Formerly deputy coroner, Lantz remembered how Albanese's father M.J. Albanese, president of Allied Die Casting in McHenry; his mother-in-law Marion Mueller; and wife's grandmother Mary Lambert suffered from arsenic trioxide poisoning. His younger

Schmidt warns Forest Preserve against politics in Graham offer

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

In the interest of preserving open space, the Lake County Forest Preserve District has had 29 acres virtually dumped in its lap.

Some on the district board may question if they will take advantage of the offer to buy the Graham Pumpkin Farm but to Lake County Board Member Suzi Schmidt, at least one thing is clear.

"We should look at a piece of land on its own merit and not make it a political process. Either it is a piece of land we want to buy or it isn't," said Schmidt, who is the chairwoman of land acquisition for the Forest Preserve.

The farm in question is owned by former Lake County Board member F.T. "Mike" Graham, who left the Forest Preserve board in 1990. Graham cut a swath in Lake County politics with his open space inclinations coupled with his propensity to alienate pro-development politicians.

"I did not always agree with what he did, but he is the reason why we have open space in Lake County," Schmidt said.

Schmidt believes the Forest Preserve District should not consider politics when considering a deal that could meet their goals of preserving open space and cost the Lake County taxpayers as little as possible.

The deal as Graham presented it to the board involves a 29-acre family farm near the intersection of O'Plaine and Belvidere roads in Warren Township. Graham has offered to sell the property, which includes 14 wooded acres, to the forest preserve for $40,000 per acre. The amount is considerably less than the $100,000 Graham says his neighbors are asking for their property.

To accommodate the low figure, Graham said he will assume a $68,000 loss on his one-ninth share of the property.

Graham challenged the board members who might be inclined to vote against the offer, saying they would be responsible for explaining to their constituents the rejection of such a good deal.

Schmidt said the Forest Preserve board will ask its staff to look over the possibility of seeing if the property is something that actually meets the needs of the Forest Preserve. That process could take weeks or months. In the mean time, Graham indicated developers have also expressed an interest in the property.

Meyer bids for Recorder of Deeds

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

A longtime staffer who knows the ins and outs of the Lake County Recorder of Deeds Office will be seeking to replace the retiring Frank Nustra as Recorder of Deeds.

Alberta Meyer, who has worked in the office during the past five years and who is a third-term trustee in Fox Lake, announced she will be seeking the Republican candidacy for the position held by her mentor, Nustra.

After 36 years as Lake County Recorder of Deeds, Nustra officially announced his retirement last week.

Lake County Board member Robert Neal (R-Wadsworth) has expressed his interest to run as a Republican candidate for Lake County Recorder of Deeds as well but has not made an official announcement.

"I'm qualified for this job," Meyer said in a prepared statement. "My opponent clearly isn't qualified. Has he processed plat notices like I have? Has he done all the non-monthly billing and real estate declarations? Has he filed commercial uniform codes, entered computer data, operated micro-filming equipment, and dealt with title companies? I've done all of that and more."

Speaking from the Recorder of Deeds office in Waukegan, Meyer said the Republican race will be one of a person qualified for the job versus a political office holder on the County Board.

"It's going to be a tough election, and I hope the voters look at the qualifications," Meyer said. "I can be a hands-on Recorder of Deeds, and not just be a figure head."

She was also touched with Nustra's blessing to run for his seat.

"Mr. Nustra is a wonderful man, and I have learned a lot from him. He has a lot of knowledge," Meyer said. "Whoever takes this office will have some tough shoes to fill."

In Fox Lake, Meyer was elected in April to her third term as trustee. She is chairman of the Fox Lake Police Department Committee and is the senior trustee on the law and judicial, finance, sewer and water, and building and grounds committees.

"I have chaired every committee in this village," noted Meyer, who oversees 125 employees with the other trustees. "I have sat through union negotiations and budget processes."

As Recorder of Deeds, Meyer also pledges to use existing staff to implement more efficient procedures.

"If elected, I can keep the office running. You should have someone up here who knows how to run the Recorder of Deeds Office," Meyer said. "Basically, everybody's life is on record here."

Albanese passed time by creating works of art

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Charles Albanese denied an oil painting he made was that depicting the Rocky Mountains where his ashes are to be scattered. But it looks a lot like Colorado.

The convicted murderer, executed by lethal injection painted a number of landscapes, and he often made sculptures out of soap—some of them large. One of them is a bald eagle with an 18-inch wingspan. Another is an elephant finished in "antique gold."

He had lots of time on his hands. Albanese was incarcerated Nov. 18, 1981 and was convicted May 18, 1982 for killing three family members with arsenic poisoning. After his conviction he was sent to the Menard Multiple Correction Facility in downstate Chester where he lived for 13 years before his death.

The educated former McHenry businessman said he did a lot of reading. And worked a lot to learn about legal issues, sometimes for himself, sometimes to help other inmates.

He wrote poetry. Occasionally fellow prisoners would ask him to help them write love notes to their sweethearts. He said he'd always oblige.

He minded his own business and was accepted as a good guy in the prison. "Charlie is one of the most likable guys on death row," Menard Superintendent Larry Hopkins said prior to Albanese's death.

He was friendly and flirtatious. He was also fascist and sarcastic about prison and his "unfair" trial. He tried to paint a picture of being framed.

He was egotistical, and was ready to admit it. "It's one of the things that keeps me sane and keeps me going," he said.

He was cold. "The biggest thing that hurts you here is your emotions," he said.

When he couldn't go out to "rec" in the cemented yard for basketball and walking, he'd sometimes play cards.

His pinochle partner for ten years was mass murderer John Wayne Gacy. Gacy's cell was just around the corner from Albanese's. When speaking about him, Albanese often referred to him as a "she."

He said Gacy wasn't his friend, only someone to play cards with and talk to. Gacy was known to the inmates on death row simply as "J.W."

His artwork wasn't too shabby. He said he perfected it after being taught how to paint by using mirrors from a fellow inmate. His African-American neighbor in a cell a few down from his, was an artist.

The artist told Albanese his brush strokes were wrong, and taught him the correct way by having him study the artists work in a looking glass held outside the bars.

He sold his work often, mostly to art collectors. Fifty bucks or whatever he could get here and there for each oil painting. He said he used the money to buy things like blue jeans, cigarettes, and food he couldn't get regularly like ice cream and pizza.

When he died, his Attorney Roger Webber said Albanese had between $100 and $200 in his commissary. The money would be sent to an unnamed woman who if given the chance, probably would have had in a meaningful relationship with Albanese, the attorney noted.

He was born June 13, 1937 in Chicago. He was executed Sept. 20, 1995 at the Stateville Correctional Center near Joliet.

Death

"It was such a strain in the last couple of months," said Webber.

The attorney said he may never know the real truth. "Part of me says there's an awful lot of evidence suggesting he's guilty, and part of me says there's some pretty big holes in the state's attorney's case," Webber stated.

"I haven't touched a blade of grass for 14 years," Albanese said shortly before he was put to death. He said there's probably grass in heaven. If there is, perhaps only the priest who talked with him minutes before his death knows if Albanese will touch that green grass for sure.

Village upset with County

LINDENHURST—Trustees are upset the Lake County Forest Preserve wants to control zoning on the 8-acre parcel of the current Bonner Farm which will be Working Heritage Farm. Mayor Paul Baumunk said the village has a higher responsibility to the residents to protect that parcel. He said if the use ever had to be changed on the site it should be recreational. The issue arose when the Forest Preserve was looking for an amendment to the Planned Unit Development for the Country Place subdivision which abuts the property. The Forest Preserve desires zoning control of the parcel. Baumunk said the village is willing to negotiate with the Forest Preserve on this issue.

Board reps seek reelection

NORTH LAKE COUNTY—County Board Representatives Suzi Schmidt (District 3) and Larry Leafblad (District 6) are both seeking their third terms in office. Both are actively seeking the Republican nomination for their respective districts. District 3 covers most of Lake Villa Township and District 6 covers all of the Round Lake communities and with the exception of Round Lake Heights. Both may have opposition in the primary election in January, but no other candidates have come forward at this time.

Big Hollow to be renamed

INGLESIDE—Big Hollow Middle School is being renamed! The new letters are already up on the side of the building at Rte. 12 and Rte. 134. They note the new name—"Edmond H. Tavelrne Middle School." Tavelrne is a past superintendent. The entire community is invited to the official dedication Oct. 3 at 7 p.m. where refreshments will be served, and a special portrait of the former superintendent will be unveiled.

Man confesses to murder

LAKE ZURICH—A former resident of Lake Zurich is facing double murder charges in the deaths of two elderly residents of Arlington Heights. Alan E. Christensen, 27, of Prospect Heights, confessed to the beating and stabbing deaths of his boss, Talmadge Cooper Sr., owner of Diamond Blacktop Co., and his wife, Isabelle Cooper, 64. The Coopers were killed in a robbery attempt at their home.

Christensen had argued about his wages and hours with Talmadge Cooper on Sept. 15. The next evening, Talmadge Cooper's body was found in his back yard, and his wife's body was found in the living room, reports said.

Salt Lake City Police captured Christensen after he arrived there on a Greyhound bus with his girlfriend, Samantha Mufale, 27, who was not charged in the killings, said Jerry Lambert, Arlington Heights Police Commander of the Detective Division. His arraignment hearing is scheduled for Oct. 13 in Rolling Meadows.

Teen sexually assaulted

LIBERTYVILLE—A 19-year-old Libertyville resident was walking home from Vernon Hills Monday, Sept. 25 at 10:30 p.m. when she was attacked.

The girl was sexually assaulted by the man before she was able to get away and flag down a vehicle on Route 21. The Libertyville resident in the vehicle took the girl to Condell Hospital, where she was examined and released.

Meserve stated that the police department was called to Condell and were able to talk to the victim and to the individual who drove the girl to the hospital.

Anyone with information about this individual or who saw anything that evening should call the Libertyville Police Department at 362-8310.

Cocaine ring busted

LINCOLNSHIRE—A three-week investigation of a possible drug-selling and distribution operation in Lincolnshire culminated in the arrest of four individuals, the seizure of approximately 6.5 ounces of cocaine and $890 in United States currency, along with vehicles valued at $60,000. The Lincolnshire Police Department assisted the Metropolitan Enforcement Group and the Lake County Sheriff's Department with the investigation. Undercover MEG agents purchased 32 grams of cocaine on three separate occasions. During a search warrant, 160 grams of cocaine with a street value of $48,000 was seized. Arrested were Kevin Gordon and Susan Krasowsky of Lincolnshire, Scott Stafford of Barrington, and Alice Tomanek of Wheeling.

Dog abuse trial set for Oct. 6

GRAYSLAKE—The fate of alleged dog abuser Charles M. Thornton, 26, of Grayslake will be decided Oct. 6. Before his trial scheduled Aug. 4, Thornton's attorney filed a motion to suppress evidence, which failed but effectively moved the trial date to Oct. 6. Assistant Lake County State's Attorney Greg Nikitas was pleased Judge Barbara Gilleran Johnson saw the motion to suppress differently, ruling the entry by Grayslake Police Officer David Sprague did constitute an emergency situation and was not a violation of the Fourth Amendment. Sprague found Rusty, Thornton's 4-month-old Doberman, confined in a small cage sitting in an inch of liquefied urine and feces. The emaciated dog had splotches of fur missing and its paws had begun to decay from the septic conditions. Rusty, who has gained more than 30 pounds since being rescued, is still in the care of Lake County Animal Control in Mundelein.

Robber hits Kwik Market

ANTIOCH—The 76 Gas Station and Kwik Pantry Food Store on Grass Lake Road and Route 59 fell victim to a successful robbery attempt Monday night. According to Sergeant Rick Eckenstahler of the Lake County Sheriff's Department, a white male entered the business at 2:25 a.m. early Tuesday morning. The offender was wearing a hooded sweatshirt with a hat pulled down over his eyes. Police are continuing their investigation.

Tobacco banned at Dist. 118

WAUCONDA—Smokers will no longer be able to light up at any athletic contests or outside any school buildings in Wauconda Unit District 118. Wauconda school board members approved the policy banning tobacco in any form at the direction of Gov. Jim Edgar, who signed it into law earlier this year. Cigarettes, cigars, pipes and chewing tobacco are prohibited from all schools and other building facilities used by the district, such as the transportation center. It also pertains to school grounds and other real estate owned, leased or contracted for by the school district. "It is very appropriate for this day and age," said school board member Keith Francke.

Convention center study OK'd

GURNEE—Gurnee trustees approved seeking proposals for a feasibility study of a convention center.

The center could have a hotel and adjoining multipurpose events center which would include a minor league sports arena. Dan Frielander, hired by the village to draft a proposal, presented the Request for Proposal (RFP) at Monday's board meeting.

Gurnee Admin. James Hayner said there are many steps between the study and any decision.

Thief gets Scotty's stereo

LIBERTYVILLE—Police have no clues in the theft of a $3,000 stereo/CD player from a 1991 Jeep Cherokee left for service at a Libertyville auto dealer. The theft was discovered Sept. 25. According to officials at Liberty Buick Co. Inc. Jeep Eagle, the vehicle belongs to Chicago Bulls Forward Scottie Pippen.

Calabresa-

backed Calabresa and said Martin manipulated the numbers to further his cause.

Swanson, who is now retired in Florida, said an arbitrary study of homes on Golf Road, Greentree and several condominium and apartment complexes in Libertyville were done in 1993 following several resident complaints about homes being over assessed in relation to their market value.

Out of 16,000 parcels in Libertyville Township, there were more than 4,800 changes in 1993 and 7,070 changes in 1994 in an effort to lower the assessed valuation in line with market values.

"There was nothing secret about it," Swanson said. "I didn't even know Calabresa's home was lowered because we look at house numbers. They (Calabresas) never filed a complaint. They just happened to be in the area where we did a study on."

He added, "All of her neighbors got approximately the same break. Three or four residents on Golf Road came in and presented a case, and we learned their (assessed value) homes were out of line with the market."

School beat OK'd by parents, public

Having a "cop on the beat" is getting to be standard operating procedure for more and more schools. Warren High is the latest school to hire a police officer, although the post will be referred to as a special liaison officer.

Gurnee Police Chief Robert Jones has advocated putting an officer on duty full-time at the school for more than a year. The officer will serve as a deterrent to crime, curb rough-housing and contribute, as Chief Jones put it, "to a quality learning environment."

School officials were reluctant to accept the idea of having a police officer patrolling the halls until new Supt. Cal Leader, back for a second tour at Warren, put on the stamp of approval. The school and the Village of Gurnee will share in the cost of the new position that takes effect Nov. 1.

The time has long passed when putting a police officer in a school was a stigma. Now it's accepted, even expected by parents and the public.

Little things aid in crime battle

Exchange Clubs in Lake County are joining with clubs across the nation—1,100 strong—in taking a leadership role in the observance of National Crime Prevention Month in October.

This year's theme, "Crime Prevention Starts at Home: Setting the Stage for Community Action," will focus on the basics of preventing crime—home security, self-protection skills, especially for children, neighborhood watch, drug prevention and child fingerprinting. Call these the "little things," but they add up to a positive approach in reducing crime in our community and elsewhere.

Exchangites will be employing the image of McGruff the crime dog, the symbol so popular with small children. With Exchange Club members pointing out the little things everyone can do, the result will be a big step forward in lessening the effects of crime on society.

United Way's goal set at $7.3 million

The 3.5 percent hike over 1994 to realize a goal of $7.35 million for United Way of Lake County is one increase in the cost of doing business that shouldn't bother anyone. One hundred two programs offered by 48 member agencies will touch practically every family in the county in the next 12 months.

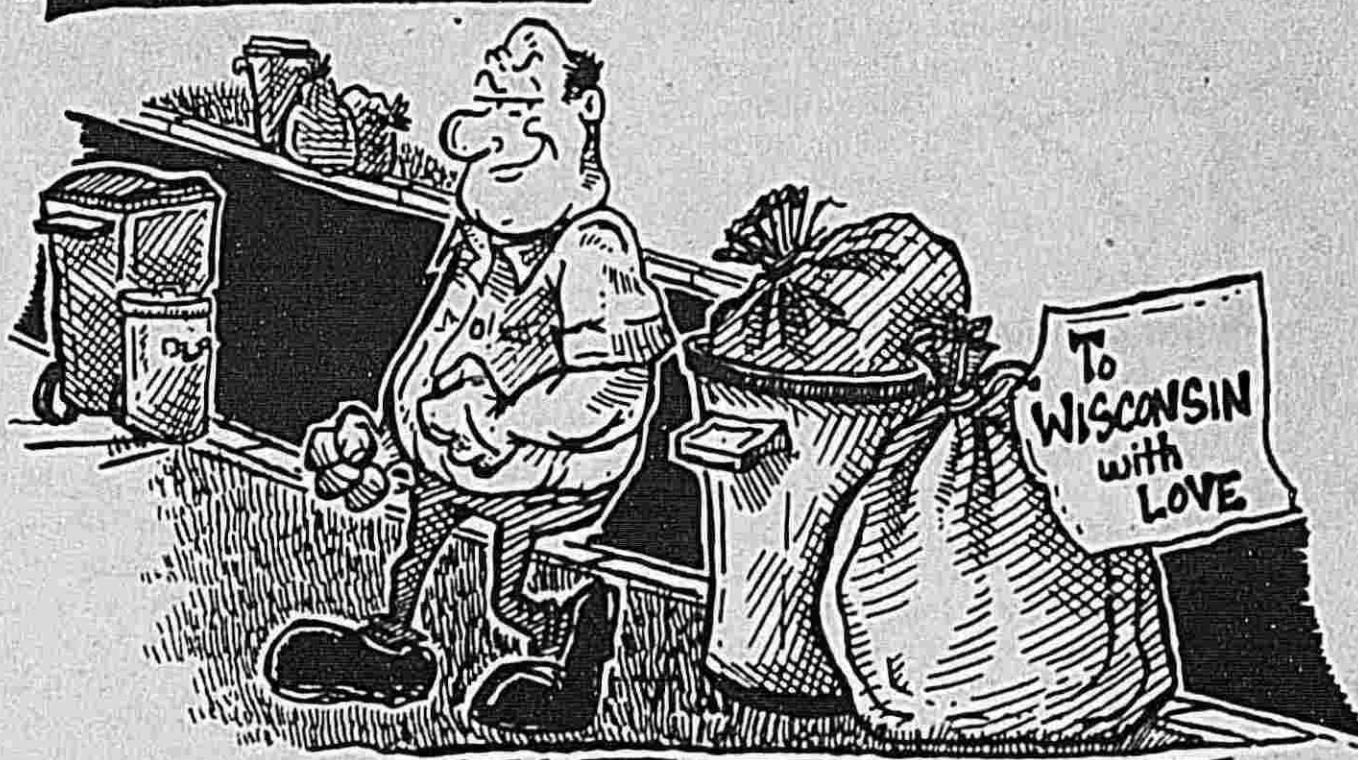

As the annual United Way drive continues onward for a November conclusion, it's worthwhile to note a couple of new features in this year's campaign. One is the $1.15 million raised early by a handful of pace-setting companies to spark the fund appeal. The other is the innovative Day of Caring where volunteers each donated a day of labor to help needy agencies.

Patrick J. Allin, general chairman, said the donations of labor were worth more than $65,000. This figure won't show up in the final tally of contributions, but it shows how serious many Lake County residents are about helping their fellow man.

—Viewpoint— GOP steamroller smacks 'upstart' candidate Salvi

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

State Rep. Al Salvi (R-Wauconda), now officially a candidate for a U.S. Senate nomination, got his first taste of the Republican steamroller from the home folks.

Fortunately for the slightly built conservative lawmaker, the sampling was in absentia.

Possibly because he was aware of what was heading his way, Al passed up the annual meeting of the Lake County Republican Federation where Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra, an announced candidate for the seat being vacated by Democratic incumbent Sen. Paul Simon, was guest speaker.

With sober faces, Federation offices booked Kustra in his capacity as the state's second ranking elected official. Salvi forces smelled a rat, so the second term legislator was evidenced only by signs planted in the lawn surrounding the Princess Restaurant, Libertyville, and an aide who was handing out "Salvi for Senate" badges to anyone who would take them.

Kustra maintained his elected posture for about 10 minutes and then launched into an unabashed campaign speech. The smooth talking Kustra (remember he once was going to shuck politics for a career as a radio talk show host) was emboldened by the obvious approval of Federation officials and other GOP bigwigs present.

Kustra's Lake County supporters doubtless are part of the "broad base" of support the lieutenant governor said he has built up since elected five years ago. "One of the nice things about being a state officer," Kustra related with a grin, "is the opportunity to visit all parts of Illinois." In your face, Salvi! You only know your west Lake County constituents and the way to Springfield.

Corinne Gieseke Wood, the comely Federation president, and other officers of the party's fund raising arm, ought to be ashamed for being part of a Kustra shill. Whatever happened to the policy of the Federation not taking sides in the primary? What's become of the party's tradition of encouraging open primaries? The big Republican umbrella?

Kustra from Gov. Edgar and his Republican Senate and House team has been sending messages to Salvi like the hiring of Don Totten, Cook County Republican heavyweight, to direct traffic for Kustra at $10,000 per month and House Majority Leader Bob Churchill announcing his Kustra allegiance the day before the Federation shindig. Al, aren't you listening?

So much for fairness. Salvi just got acquainted with the GOP steamroller. Chug, chug. Toot, toot. Crunch, crunch.

—LETTERS TO THE EDITOR—

A 'high five' for Donna

Editor:

I would like to respond to the "mean spirited" Lipservice comment in the Sept. 22 edition regarding humor columnist Donna Abear.

I don't know who Donna Abear is, but it is nice to read something humorous instead of depressing. Even Lipservice is depressing for the most part and to offset even Lipservice's comments, I can end my reading by reading something funny. She tells of her life as she faces it in her perspective and if more people saw every day challenging and humorous, it would be a good medicine for them.

The lady Donna is doing her best. She probably has never received one kind letter of encouragement and praise from the readers. I know I didn't the 11 months I was a newspaper humor columnist.

If you've ever had little ones, the words pee-pee are normal words spoken. At least she didn't say "I'm gonna doo doo" or "I'm gonna poo poo." Also, for anyone who has had children at some point the children do think of their parents as "dorks."

As in anything, a writer must write, get experience and have confidence which will improve their skills. That comes with time.

In my opinion, I hope Donna Abear will continue to write humorously and share her funny side for humor is truly good medicine for us all.

PARTY LINES

Geo-Karis, Churchill, Bears to compete at Power Breakfast

Is this a mismatch?
State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) will be competing with the Chicago Bears when they take the podium at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 4, for a Power Breakfast legislative update at Midlane Country Club, Wadsworth.

Sponsored by the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, in store for early risers will be inside political information and two free tickets to the Bears-Steelers game Nov. 5 at Soldier Field.

Geo-Karis and Churchill have been invited to preview the fall veto session in Springfield, but with an election year shaping up they're also expected to talk about candidates.

The breakfast is open to the public. All interested persons can reserve by calling the Chamber at 249-3800 or Midlane at 360-0550.

Long tale (tall)—Even though she was in a hurry to get away for a football game in Champaign, County Board Rep. Pam Newton (R-Vernon Hills) took time to launch the annual Lake County Republican Federation breakfast meeting with a shaggy dog story. (Actually, it was about a bird.) Pam Newton had the GOP contingent stirring in their seats before getting to the punch line. And to think that Newton holds her fund raisers at Zany's Comedy Club where tall stories are fired seconds apart.

Out-of-town visitor—Former Libertyville Twp. Assessor Bill Swanson was in town last week to testify in a case involving Motorola taxation. Swanson also was called to comfort politicians smarting under the sting of the latest barbs hurled by Jack Martin, who always seems to have something to say about everything and every body. Takes plenty to lure Swanson away from comfortable retirement in Florida.

Not running—Scratch two potential County Board challengers in the Grant-Wauconda township district now represented by Eddie Fojtik (R-Ingleside). Wauconda Township Assessor

Doris Weldner, declining candidate status, acknowledged that reports circulated last week that she was interested in running against Fojtik. "No, I'm happy as assessor and plan to run again in three years. I don't know where that rumor got started," Weldner stated.

Fojtik

Kim Eudy of Wooster Lake, co-chair of the West Lake County Impact Coalition, a watchdog group, is not interested in becoming a candidate, although she intends to remain active in public affairs as a researcher and commentator.

Fancy party—Lake County township officials will be donning their finery for their annual dinner Friday, Oct. 6, at the posh Wyndstone Country Club, Barrington. Twp. Supervisor Bob Grever, the official host, promises a gala evening.

Recorder of Deeds or retirement?—A Lake County election race which could grab a lot of attention is the one for Recorder of Deeds. Alberta Meyer, who has worked at the office for five years, announced her Republican candidacy. Lake County Board member Robert Neal (R-Wadsworth) has also expressed an interest in the position but has not yet made a formal announcement.

Neal

As a Fox Lake trustee for three terms, Meyer is no stranger to running a campaign, but she faces Neal's supporters in the Lake County Republican party and a deep war chest. Neal is reportedly willing to spend roughly $130,000 for an otherwise low-profile seat. But Neal is facing opposition from his own constituents over the Yorkhouse Road extension controversy, so Neal may be seeking a quiet public seat so he can retire comfortably.

Despite Neal's financial advantage, Meyer may make Neal earn his retirement. Party Lines will be keeping tabs on the Recorder of Deeds race.

Write-ins sought: Which Lake County community is among the fastest growing but has no school board races? Gurnee lost its only race when Jaye Margeson dropped out of the Warren Township High School Nov. 7 race. Margeson was a Woodland Dist. 50 board member who had to drop out of the WTHS race due to residency. Those complaining about school tax increase attempts by Woodland District 50 and WTHS have little to say about as three races, two elementary and one high school can't generate one challenger. WTHS and Woodland are seeking $36.6 and $36 million referendum attempts for new school buildings.

To the end—Though Lake County Recorder of Deeds Frank Nustra has announced he will not run for reelection and other politicians are already positioning themselves to replace him, he said he will not give up his seat until the end of his term on Dec. 1, 1996. "If I did it any other way it would be my decision and that would not be fair to the people who put me here. They are deep in my heart. Believe me on that," Nustra said. Nustra, a Republican, has not endorsed any candidate for the position.

Behind the camera—When Wauconda Mayor James L. Eschenbach is not attending a board meeting or holding a conference or discussion at village hall, he can usually be found behind a camera. Eschenbach is a camera buff and has one dating back to the 1930s. The mayor always carries a camera around with him in his car, and usually takes pictures of animals and birds out in the wilderness. Last weekend, Eschenbach took pictures of "birds of another feather" at a celebration honoring residents who have lived in the village for 70 years or more.

Pending announcement—Robert "Bob" Powers of Round Lake Beach is debating the idea of challenging Larry Leafblad for the county board. Powers doesn't want to make an official announcement as of yet but is circulating business cards which indicate he's a candidate.

children attend school, safe in the knowledge that they are getting a good education in a rich environment.

Yet, the current Dist. 96 board, in the guise of a desperately needed referendum, tells us that our schools are in trouble, serious trouble, if we do not come up with the money—now—to save the schools. They tell us, with pride, that we have not had a tax increase since 1983.

My response is, why not? If we needed the money, why did they not ask us earlier? We trusted them to let us know if they needed more! Two years ago, there was another referendum that claimed we were doing well, they could juggle some bonds around and we would be steady for some time.

Is two years such a dramatic difference in time? Has there really been such an unanticipated surge in population in the last two years that the board could not see it coming, or is the board, including the 12, and 16 year members, not anticipating, not preparing, and not responding? In other words, not doing the job we trust them to do.

Congratulations to Mayor Hamsher and the Fox Lake village board for finally adopting a residency requirement ordinance!

Previously, department heads were given automobiles and fuel allowances to com-

Get Rte. 53 information

Editor:
We owe it to ourselves to learn what Rte. 53 will mean to us. If you moved to Lake County for a little country think twice about this road. If you want to breathe cleaner air it won't help our already low air quality status, which, if not improved, approximately $400,000 in federal funds will be withheld. If this tollway is built, traffic on our already congested roads will increase drastically. It is not designed to serve local travel.

If you think we need this road but haven't heard the experts, take the time. If you keep hearing the same old arguments polluted air, polluted water, more development, more traffic, but haven't heard the supporting information, please, take the time.

Make an educated decision about the desirability and necessity of this road. Is this the answer to our needs? Can alternatives better solve the problem?

We need to protect ourselves. No one will do it for us. Watch for information meetings. Call for information (548-2127). It doesn't take a lot of time, but can make such a difference in our lives.

This weekend stop by Ziegler's Orchard, 32363 Bacon Rd., off Rte. 120, Grayslake (546-1228) and meet some people, pick up some information and pick some apples.

An important point to remember is that the toll authority's first obligation is to the bond holders.

Maternity stay bill sponsor lauds hospital policies

State Representative Lauren Beth Gash (D-Highland Park) commends those area hospitals which are providing the level of service for new mothers, even at their own expense. Gash is the chief sponsor of a bill filed this past July which would require insurance companies to cover maternity care (in hospital or at home) for 48 hours after a normal delivery or 96 hours after a Caesarean section.

In response to the insurance industry's move toward shorter hospital maternity stays, hospitals including Lake Forest Hospital in Lake Forest, St. Joseph's Medical Center in Joliet, and Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights have begun programs offering care at levels recommended by medical associations nationwide — even though insurance companies refuse to pay for it.

Gash points out that her bill, which has bipartisan co-sponsorship, is necessary to enable all hospitals to meet medical standards.

Illinois insurance companies generally expect maternity patients to be discharged 24 hours after giving birth if a delivery has been uncomplicated (48 hours for a Caesarean delivery).

In fact, many insurance companies are planning to reduce even further — to 12 or even six hours after delivery — the maternity stays in uncomplicated deliveries. The American Academy of Pediatricians, the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and the American Medical Association strongly advocate 48 hours of postpartum care for uncomplicated deliveries.

"Medical research has shown that early discharge from the hospital increases the risk that mothers and infants will develop significant health problems which may go undetected," stated Gash, who has done significant research on women and childbirth. "In the end, the costs to insurance providers will be even greater if additional medical services are needed for these individuals should undetected problems become worse."

Among the health problems Gash mentions are jaundice and phenylketonuria (PKU) in newborns, each a potential cause of severe mental retardation if not treated early, and infant malnourishment due to improper breast feeding.

Particularly for first-time mothers, medical experts consider 24 hours inadequate to receive support and education on breast feeding and other infant care issues. Mothers, as well, face health problems immediately after birth such as hemorrhaging and postpartum depression. Psychiatrists have commented that a trend toward so-called "drive-through deliveries" will have a detrimental effect on the mothers' short and long-term well-being.

Gash has received letters from moms who experienced problems upon leaving the hospital following a shortened stay — one from a woman whose child died after coming home. The mother believes that this policy could have made the difference in her child's life.

Shaping health reform is delicate operation

Finally, there seems to be general agreement among lawmakers of both political parties and the president about the approach to health care reform in 1995. The shape of that reform, however, remains uncertain and there are many pitfalls ahead.

The attempt last year to make sweeping, fundamental changes in the nation's health care system didn't work. Despite, or perhaps because of, a 500-member task force and a 1,300-page bill, the top-to-bottom approach to health care reform failed. Now, most everyone in Washington realizes that fixing what's broken and leaving in place what works is the best way to improve the health care system. It's called an incremental approach to reform.

The health care reform effort has already begun with proposals to increase the health insurance deductions for the self-employed, reduce the negative effects of sky-high malpractice insurance premiums for doctors and increase the insurance purchasing leverage for smaller companies.

While these are positive steps, there is a danger that the Congress could be tempted to go too far and actually make things worse for some American families. Specifically, in the area of insurance portability there is the potential of making individual health insurance policies more expensive.

Currently, many workers face something called job-lock, which is basically the fear of not qualifying for health insurance coverage with a new employer because of a pre-existing medical condition. As a result, these workers remain locked in their current jobs. There are proposals in Washington to solve the problem. One plan would eliminate pre-existing condition waiting periods for a newly hired employee, if the worker was previously covered under a group health plan and has satisfied any waiting periods in that plan. This is called group-to-group portability and it would benefit some 137 million Americans.

Since most of these group plans fall under the jurisdiction of the 1974 Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) it is the proper role of the federal government to set portability standards. There is, however, another proposal which would force insurance companies to sell individual coverage to people who lose their group coverage. Many health policy experts predict problems if the federal government attempts to impose regulations in the individual insurance market which has traditionally been regulated by the states.

Individuals often purchase health insurance policies when they expect their medical expenses to equal or exceed the annual premium. On the other hand, many young and healthy individuals who are not covered by employer-sponsored group policies often forgo coverage in order to save money. If all insurers are forced to issue policies to everyone who loses group coverage, similar selection patterns would develop on a much larger scale.

It appears to many observers the better approach to the problem of group-to-individual coverage is to allow the states to solve it. The states have the regulatory apparatus in place and 39 states, including Illinois, have already taken steps toward solving the problem.

The prospect of losing health insurance coverage can be frightening to many Americans and there is no doubt that action must be taken to ease this fear. It is, however, a concern to many people in state government and the health insurance industry that the Congress could attempt to do too much, and in the process make the situation worse.

Illinois must leave doctors out of the death house

"First, do no harm." This simple command, the most familiar part of the Hippocratic Oath, forms the ethical underpinning of the entire profession of medicine. It dedicates physicians to preserving life when there is hope of doing so.

On this foundation rests the trust and confidence of our patients. When they seek a doctor's care, they do so with the proper expectation that we will "first, do no harm," and that everything we do will be done to ease their suffering and improve their health.

The Illinois State Medical Society believes every patient, from the innocent newborn to the death-row convict, should be able to expect their doctor will "first, do no harm." If our profession fails any patient in this expectation, then it fails every one.

The state of Illinois, however, has established legal conditions under which a doctor could betray this essential trust and violate the ethical code established by his or her professional peers — and then be paid for it in cash.

This year, the Illinois legislature enacted a law prohibiting the state's Medical Disciplinary Board from taking action against a physician who violates his code of ethics by taking part in an execution. Lawmakers said this, and the existing law requiring a physician to pronounce death of an executed inmate, are necessary to avert legal challenges to the state's death penalty.

In practice, this means the Department of Corrections will hire doctors who, after the lethal injections have been given at executions like the four scheduled this autumn, will declare the inmates actually dead.

Of course, if a "mistake" is made in an injection and the inmate is not in fact dead, the physician would have to declare that, too. Then, presumably, the inmate would be given another injection. The doctor's action, therefore, would lead directly to the patient's death. This is an unnecessary as it is wrong. Many others, such as local coroners, can declare death.

Even though the Illinois Medical Disciplinary Board is now restricted by law from upholding this ethical stance and disciplining those who violate it, the Department of Corrections will still withhold the identities of the doctors it hires to aid in executions — and will pay rightfully decided by the people, through their elected representatives. The medical profession takes no position for or against capital punishment; our members are as diverse in their views as is society as a whole. Many physicians per-through the horrors of Auschwitz to the miracles (and sometimes dilemmas) wrought by modern technology.

Laws facilitating physician participation in executions must be repealed. The Medical Disciplinary Board must be allowed to sanction a doctor who has violated his professional code of ethics. Our patients must be confident that their doctors are living up to the professional oath.

"First, do no harm."

A physician who wavers in his commitment to honor this simple command squanders the trust that forms the core of his relationship with his patients. The harm he does goes well beyond whatever may be inflicted upon any one individual.

them in untraceable cash. The state's secrecy protects those it hires from the professional medical associations which are prepared to enforce their ethical standards. It also indicates that at some deep level, the state understands it is doing wrong in corrupting the medical profession by involving it in the taking of life.

Whether or not Illinois should have a death penalty is a question sonally support society's right to impose the death penalty without sacrificing their professional integrity by aiding in its implementation.

What the legislature cannot justifiably do is rewrite professional ethical standards which have evolved through hundreds of years of thoughtful and sometimes painful experience — from the compassion of Hippocrates

How to treat a person in seizure

Although a generalized tonic-clonic (grand mal) seizure is frightening to watch, it is rarely dangerous to the person who is having the seizure. There are, however, first aid guidelines to follow when treating a person who is having a tonic-clonic seizure.

- Stay calm.
- Protect the person from sharp or hard objects.
- Loosen all tight clothing and remove any glasses or tight neck chains.
- Place something soft, like a folded jacket, under the head.
- Roll the person on his/her side to keep the airway clear.
- Do not hold the person down—you may cause a bone dislocation.
- Do not put anything in the person's mouth. The tongue cannot be swallowed during a seizure.
- After the seizure is over, reassure the person, but do not try to restrain. Try to keep him/her in a safe environment and stay with him/her until s/he is alert and oriented.
- If this is the person's first tonic-clonic seizure, should the seizure last longer than five to 10 minutes, or multiple seizures occur, immediate medical attention is necessary.

There are several other types of epileptic seizures and the chance for injury in each is very small. There are no specific first aid guidelines for these seizures, but the important factors to remember are to keep the person safe from harm and provide reassurance and support when the seizure is over.

This information is from Epilepsy Services for Northeastern Illinois, a social service agency providing community education on epilepsy and counseling services for persons whose lives are touched by epilepsy.

Retirement Research Foundation opens new doors at local synagogue

Irvin Brodsky was 69 when he had one of the most important moments of his life. Surrounded by 13 year old boys, he had a religious experience. Bar mitzvahed just a few years ago, to hear him talk today it was an event that had incredible meaning for his entire family.

"When I attended my first grandson's bar mitzvah I realized that I was going to be left out of my grandchildren's lives because I didn't know the language and the heritage of the Jewish people. It was then I knew I must find a way to learn about my history and religion," recalls Brodsky.

Thanks to a Buffalo Grove synagogue dedicated to its older congregation, Brodsky began a learning journey that continues today at Congregation B'nai Shalom. And now a special $30,000 three-year seed grant from The Retirement Research Foundation will make the unique intergenerational religious program he and fellow congregation trustees have helped create for older adults in the Lake County community a reality. "I have been busier than ever recapturing those life experiences that were laying idle," Brodsky reflects on his involvement.

Guided by the Jewish tradition to respect the elderly and promote intergenerational activities, Congregation B'nai Shalom is about to embark on an expansion of education classes, religious instruction, volunteer services and special events to develop new opportunities for Jewish people young and old. The Retirement Research Foundation

ENCORE seed grant will enable the synagogue to enhance its program of religious services and personal visits with residents of area health care institutions and retirement centers, monthly gatherings of seniors in private homes, an intergenerational Holocaust survivors group and a new senior volunteer program in its Hebrew school.

Congregation B'nai Shalom becomes one of 10 community-based organizations to receive The Retirement Research Foundation ENCORE Program seed grants for the development of new programs to address the needs of area seniors. As part of the Foundation's annual ENCORE Program, 10 select non-profit groups in metropolitan Chicago will each receive up to $30,000 over the next three years to create new programs serving older Americans.

ENCORE, ENCouraging COMMUNITY Response to the Elderly, was created in 1988 as a competitive two-phase award and grant program to promote community-based services for the elderly and increase the availability and effectiveness of these programs. The first phase recognizes as many as 10 non-profit organizations serving seniors with unrestricted cash awards of $25,000 and $5,000. The seed grant phase is intended to promote the duplication of successful models based on award-winning ENCORE programs. To date more than $870,000 has been distributed as part of the seed grant phase to support dozens of new programs serving thousands of seniors in Cook, Lake and DuPage Counties.

"This year's seed grant recipients have demonstrated an important commitment to our aging population," explains Sharon F. Markham, associate vice president of The Retirement Research Foundation and ENCORE Program coordinator. "Combining various elements of our model programs in community organizing, health care, intergenerational programs and religious congregations has made for some very dynamic new methods of addressing critical needs. We are excited to be a part of these new endeavors to serve seniors in the metropolitan area."

Planning is already underway for the 1996 ENCORE Program. Applications for ENCORE Awards are now available. Non-profit organizations addressing the needs of seniors in Cook, Lake and DuPage Counties are eligible to apply for unrestricted awards recognizing program excellence. For more information, contact Markham at (312)714-8080.

Tools to help simplify retirement

If you're thinking about retiring or already there, financial planning has never been more complicated. From annuities to zero-coupon bonds, the variety of investment options is staggering.

What to do? Most investors can make informed decisions themselves. Your local library contains dozens of books on all aspects of financial planning, as well as magazines and research publications.

Two of the best self-help kits are T. Rowe Price Associates' Retirement Planning Kit and Retirees Financial Guide, developed in conjunction with the Coopers & Lybrand accounting firm and recently released in updated 1995 editions.

The popular guides can be obtained free of charge by calling 1-800-541-8460.

The Retirement Planning Kit, designed for those more than five years from retirement, consists of three parts.

First, there's a comprehensive workbook you can use to determine how much you'll need for retirement and how much you need to save to reach your goal. Part 2 focuses on factors to consider when developing a retirement investment strategy, and it offers several model portfolios. Part 3 provides general guidance and tips on using mutual funds to implement a balanced investment strategy.

T. Rowe Price's Retirees Financial Guide is designed for retirees or those about to retire.

It includes information on coping with inflation, Medicare, Medigap and long-term care insurance, Social Security, working after retirement, withdrawing money from retirement plans and handling lump-sum distributions.

The guide features a workbook to help retirees estimate how much they can afford to spend to maintain their standard of living over their life expectancy. Finally, the guide turns to investment strategy, including model portfolios.

Estate planning with a new twist

ALAN NADOLNA

There is an old saying that the only things certain in life are death and taxes. There is another old saying that there are no new ideas, just new ways to look at old ones.

Here's an old idea with a new twist that may make death and death taxes a little easier to handle.

Estate planning would be easy if clients would give away their assets but retain the income from them. But, the IRS makes sure that transfers of property are complete, no partial.

If a client retains an income interest, the asset is not removed from the estate. The problem, obviously, is that most people cannot afford to give away large percentages of their estates.

There is a way, however, to convert income-producing assets so they will continue to provide income but will be removed from the estate at death. This is the net effect of purchasing an immediate annuity payable only for the joint lives of the client and the client's spouse.

The annuity will pay an income stream to the clients during their lifetime, but, because the annuity is exhausted at the death of the second annuitant, there is nothing included in the estate.

Sounds good, but what about the next generation? If mom and dad liquidate their assets and use the proceeds to purchase annuities, there will be nothing left for the children and grandchildren.

The assets used to purchase the annuity can be replaced with a survivorship whole life policy purchased and owned by the children or by an irrevocable trust on the lives of the parents since neither of them holds any ownership interest in the policy.

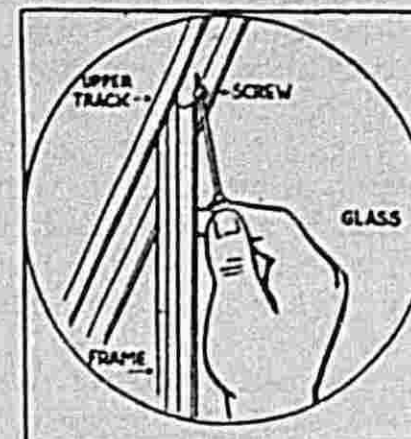

This combination of products can save estate taxes and increase the income available to the parents. It can also protect the children's inheritance from the claims of creditors and long-term care costs.

Medical expenses may add up to a tax deduction

It may be in your best financial interest to take care of medical problems and major health-care expenses before the end of the year. According to the Illinois CPA Society, medical expenses are deductible to the extent that they exceed 7.5 percent of your adjusted gross income. If you're close to this threshold, accelerating medical payments into 1995 may enable you to write off a portion of your medical bills.

A wide range of expenses are tax-deductible. Congress has classified them into four categories:

1. Costs associated with the prevention, diagnosis, or alleviation of physical or mental defects or illness;
2. Amounts paid for treatment affecting any structure or function of the body;
3. Transportation primarily for and essential to medical care; and
4. Accident and health insurance premiums.

Here's a basic explanation of these categories:

Medical and hospital services—Deductible medical expenses include fees paid to family physicians, dentists, eye doctors, chiropractors, podiatrists, osteopaths, psychologists, nurses, therapists, and other recognized practitioners. You can also deduct most hospital fees. Remember, too, you can only deduct that portion of your expense not covered by medical insurance.

Nursing homes—Generally, you may deduct the cost of nursing home care as long as the facility is providing you or your dependent with medical care. However, the tax law is strict in this area. If a physician did not recommend the nursing care or if you are not receiving any treatment for a medical problem, your expenses may not qualify for a deduction.

Equipment and programs for mental and physical problems—You may also deduct the costs of a seeing eye dog, false teeth, hearing aids, artificial limbs, and other items necessary to overcome a physical impairment. Fees paid for special training programs or schools, such as those for a learning disabled or handicapped child, are also generally tax-deductible if the main reason for using the school is to alleviate the disability.

Transportation for medical care—The costs for traveling to doctors' offices, hospitals, and special schools are also deductible. If you drive, you may deduct your actual costs or the standard rate of 9 cents a mile, plus parking and tolls. You can also deduct cab, bus and even plane fare to medical facilities.

Medicine and drugs—You cannot deduct the cost of over-the-counter medicines, such as aspirin or antacids. Only the costs of prescription drugs and insulin are deductible.

Home improvements—Home improvements made for medical reasons are among the most costly of all medical expenses, yet they are frequently overlooked. Qualified expenses may include building a swimming pool, adding a special walkway to your home, or remodeling a bathroom—provided these improvements are necessitated by a medical condition and prescribed by a doctor. If the improvement increases the value of your home, you must subtract that increase from the cost of the improvement to arrive at the deductible amount. If the value of the property has not been increased, the entire cost of the capital expenditure will be a deductible medical expense.

Whose expenses can you deduct?

You may deduct the medical expenses paid on behalf of your spouse and any dependent or any individual who would qualify as your dependent.

This is possible even if you cannot claim an exemption for that person because he or she had a gross income of $2,450 or more, or filed a joint return. If you are divorced, you may deduct qualified medical expenses you paid for your child, even if you are not the custodial parent.

Timing the deduction

If, after tallying up all your medical expenses and those of your dependents, you're still far from the 7.5 percent threshold, the Illinois CPA Society recommends that you consider postponing some elective medical procedures until next year. This will put you in a better position to qualify for the medical expense deduction—and trim your tax bill—in 1996.

New videotape introduces 'HouseMoney'

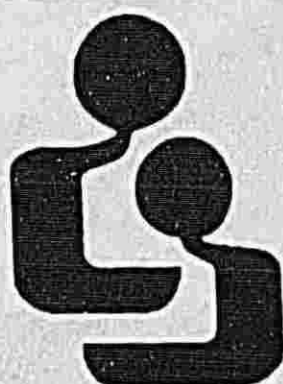

A new videotape for senior homeowners introduces "HouseMoney," a reverse mortgage plan that provides monthly income based on the equity in the home.

Benefit gives women's institute a louder voice

SUZIE REED

Regional Editor

During the Fourth World Conference on Women held in Beijing, delegates were faced with many differing viewpoints and agendas. Many came away with a new appreciation of the priorities that concern a great many women from other parts of the world.

In the United States, viewers sat before televisions watching the women of China shy away from reporters as the movers and shakers of various women's advocate groups extolled the virtue and wisdom of their views and beliefs. The people of Lake County have a unique opportunity to hear firsthand the reactions and thoughts of two who were there. Representatives of the National Institute of Womanhood included Dr. Titi Chen, the academic dean of Chicago's Lexington College, and Sheila Diamond, a clinical specialist in pediatrics at the Shriners' Hospital.

The conference delegates from the NIW also included Kathleen Salvi who takes particular joy in her various roles as a mother, an attorney, and the wife of Rep. Al Salvi. She and Rep. Salvi have organized a buffet dinner to benefit the Institute and provide guests with an insight into "The Beijing Conference — What Really Happened." The benefit is scheduled for Oct. 8 at the Ivanhoe Country Club.

The NIW was founded in 1990 with a mission "to affirm, promote and defend authentic womanhood." In the past five years, said Salvi, they have made themselves heard at United Nations conferences. What is heard most loudly at the conferences, she said, is "the prevailing feminist viewpoint. This group of women is not the voice of mainstream American women."

The NIW looks at women holistically, and integrates the intellectual, relational and physical well-being.

"There has to be an inter-relation of those three things," Salvi explained.

During the gathering at the Ivanhoe Club, Salvi said, Chen and Diamond will explain the significance of what happened in Beijing and what women may expect in the future.

"We can find out how we can become involved in an effort that will truly promote the good of society," said Salvi.

The story of Josephine "Titi" Chen is unique in itself. Born in China, she fled with her family in 1948, settling in Chicago in 1951. The Conference on Women was the first time she returned to her native land. With friends and relatives in Beijing, she had an opportunity for informal get-togethers and came away with a very different picture than other delegates.

Dr. Chen plans to offer examples of her observations and bring a different source of information to guests at the benefit.

"I will concentrate on the aspect of personal experience," she said. "I would like to help people here understand China through these people. Through the people we can understand a little bit better and consequently we can help mankind."

Chen was elated at the opportunity to talk with the See BENEFIT page B22

Community works to raise funds for cure of disease

JENNIFER WHISENAND

Staff Reporter

Every parent's nightmare has come true for Michael and Russelle Rankin of Mundelein.

A little over a year and a half ago, they found out that 8-year-old daughter, Lauren, had been diagnosed with a rare genetic disorder that was destroying cells in her eyes and brain, and would eventually kill her.

Two months later, the Rankins learned that their 6-year-old daughter, Hannah, had the same disorder, which is commonly called Batten disease, juvenile neuronal ceroid lipofuscinosis (JNCL).

JNCL will cause blindness, severe seizures, dementia, loss of motor function, loss of muscle mass and eventually the disorder will lead to death.

Victims of the disease and their families have been given new hope by the discovery of the defective gene that causes the disorder. A research team at Massachusetts General Hospital has isolated the gene, and brought the medical world one step closer to a cure. Dr. Terry Lerner, head of the research team, was able to pass on the good news to Russelle Rankin before the official announcement last week.

At this time the girls are both partially blind and can only see fragments of objects, as if they were looking through holes in an opaque screen.

Despite the two girls' disadvantage of sight, they keep up with their friends and classmates at Fremont School in Mundelein.

"The girls know they are losing their vision and that they will eventually be blind, but they do not know that they are dying," Michael said. "They are only 6 and 8 years old; they would not be able to handle that type of news."

Michael and Russelle hope they will never have to tell their two children that they are dying.

"We've got a very short time to find the cure for Lauren and Hannah," said Michael. "But, when we help our children, we are helping other children with this disease."

The Rankins set out to find a way to help the research on this devastating disease and found six labs around the world that have been doing genetic research on JNCL, after the doctors told them there was nothing that could be done for their children.

JNCL affects 1 to 2 in 100,000 children. The disease occurs when each parent passes on a recessive gene for the disorder, adding a 16th chromosome, where the defective gene that causes the disease is located. With the discovery of the gene, doctors will now be able to test suspected carriers and diagnose the disorder more quickly.

The Rankins are trying to save the lives of their children by finding the cure to the deadly disease.

"Every moment we spend with Lauren and Hannah is precious to us," Russelle said. "Everything we do with them is cherished."

The JNCL Research Fund, a not-for-profit fund-raising organization, was started in hopes to bring in funds for the research of the disease and find a cure before it is too late.

Last year the Rankins and another family with a child afflicted with JNCL pooled $60,000 of their money to fund JNCL research at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

This weekend Quig's Orchard will sponsor a variety of fund-raising activities for the JNCL research fund.

"The Rankins' family story has touched the hearts of many local families and businesses that are pulling together to help raise funds to find a cure for this disease," said Quig's Public Relations Director Pam Berek.

Quig's has opened their doors to the Rankin family, for two weekends, by holding a fund-raising event for the JNCL research fund.

Umbdenstock Electric Inc., in cooperation with Quig's will have kiddie train rides throughout the orchard for kids of all ages.

The fund raiser at Quig's will be held Sept. 30, Oct. 1, 7 and 8. On Oct. 7, former Chicago Bears Player Jim Morrissey will be present to meet people and help with the train rides.

"We've got a very short time to find the cure for Lauren and Hannah. But, when we help our children, we are helping other children with this disease."

— Michael Rankin
Father

Morrissey has donated two tickets to the Chicago/Houston Game on Oct. 22 for the raffle.

Also being raffled is the Rankin family's 1967 Shelby GT350 (Shelby Mustang) for $50 a raffle ticket.

Any car raffle tickets purchased at Quig's on Sept. 30, Oct. 1 and 7 will also be eligible for the Bears tickets. Morrissey will draw the winning Bears ticket on Oct. 7 at 3 p.m.

The drawing for the car will be on Dec. 17 at Quig's Restaurant at 7 p.m.

"It has been phenomenal, with our customers asking if they could donate things for the raffle," said Berek.

The Tullamore Subdivision, located at Hawley and Routes 60/83, Mundelein, has also gotten involved in helping raise money to find a cure for this disease by holding a two-day garage sale.

Unlike any normal garage sale, 180 homes located in the subdivision pooled together and will open five garages from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 30 and Sunday, Oct. 1 to generate money for the JNCL fund.

The homes opening their garage doors are 612 Lexington Court, 618 Lexington Court, 624 Lexington Court, 1934 Manor Lane and 1936 Manor Lane.

"I have been amazed by the outpouring of kindness of the Mundelein community," said Tullamore Garage Sale Organizer Leslie Evans.

Evans stated that families across the community have heard about the two girls and want to do what they can to help.

"I have been flooded by people. See CURE page B22

Cruise Ships Substitute St. Croix For St. Thomas

PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

As graphically portrayed by the media, the island of St. Thomas has been devastated by two recent hurricanes. Therefore, it should come as no surprise that, at least for awhile, this once popular cruise port has been removed from most ship's itineraries.

So, where is your ship going to stop if you've got a cruise booked for the next month or so?

Many are avoiding the area completely and sailing the "Western Caribbean" (i.e. Cozumel, Grand Cayman, Jamaica, etc.)

However, since St. Thomas' sister island, St. Croix, survived the hurricane season with much less damage, it is the substitute port for several cruise ships.

In my opinion, this is an excellent choice, since St. Croix ranks as my favorite of the U.S. Virgin Islands. But don't take my word for it. Famed travel authority Arthur Frommer has said "I will be savoring St. Croix for as long as I crave a vacation in the Caribbean". It may just be what St. Croix doesn't have, that makes it attractive.

There's not a single chain hotel or "high-rise" on the island. All of it's resorts small, intimate properties, owned by the people who run them.

There are few cruise ships, and even fewer "charter flights" visiting St. Croix, so its many small shops are not crowded with hoards of tourists clamoring for "bargain" souvenirs. Instead you'll find relaxed, non-pushy shop-keepers who have to time to explain their wares and help you find just what you're looking for.

If you only have a day to visit St. Croix, a "must see" is Buck Island, the only underwater park in the U.S. Park system.

Those who have never donned a mask and snorkel before may be a bit apprehensive when told it's time enter the water and you're boat is hundreds yards from shore. However, you'll soon feel comfortable as you float effortlessly in the calm clear waters off Buck Island and gaze in amazement at the rainbow of color created by the many exotic fishes inhabiting the reef below. Underwater metal signs explain the spectacular coral formations while arrows direct along a trail and back to your boat. You'll see sights available elsewhere only to scuba divers at depths of 50 feet or more.

If St. Croix has been added as a stop on your cruise, you won't be disappointed.

—LIFE'S A BEAR—

DONNA ABEAR

Life as Mom of La Mancha

There is nothing more humbling than coming home to your children. It puts any achievement you have had or ever will have into perspective—in other words, all else pales next to this burning question—"WHAT'S FOR DINNER?"

And today was no exception. In fact, I warned myself that I would receive that very response to my good news and yet, inside me beat the heart of that eternal optimist, Donna Quixote. I kept hearing this strange voice (with a Spanish accent) saying, "Thees time eet weel be deeferent."

So, you may be saying, what is this so-called big achievement, this big news? Thanks for asking! I was hoping SOMEONE would be interested! My big achievement was...(insert loud drum roll here or the theme from "Rocky")...this very column won 2nd Place from the statewide Illinois Press Association for "Original Column"...(insert the song "I Did it MYYYY Way!" here).

My editors at this paper assured me that I should be very honored by this award, and that competition is stiff in our division. And so I am both honored and stiff from sitting through the reading of approximately 1,000 winners in umpteen categories and divisions. (By the way, Lakeland Newspapers brought home several other awards as well, but they'll have to find another page to brag on).

So, there I was, all puffed up like Mel Reynolds after a phone call, with an ego the size of our country's budget deficit and a grin similar to that of a Cheshire cat who has just scored a bag of catnip from his dealer the Mad Hatter. In other words, I was awfully darned proud of myself! Still, unbelievable as this may sound, my family was not waiting at the door for me on pins and needles. Ah, thought Donna Quixote, the little steenkens must be trying to surprise me. They are hiding.

I opened the door and called to them. "HELLO! I'M HOME!"

I paused for a moment, to see if I could hear the patter of their feet as they ran in excitement to greet me downstairs, and...nothing. Hmmmm.

Hokay, thought Donna Quixote, I weel surprise them.

And I did. Sort of. I found them all in the kitchen and as I walked in, they did look surprised. (Or maybe that was relief?)

"You're home, Mom!" said 6-year-old Brandon. "Mommy!" said baby Samantha.

"Hi, dear," said my husband. "We're glad you're home. There's nothing out for dinner, so we were waiting for you."

Hearing the word "dinner," Donna Quixote fell off the donkey she rode in on.

"That's it? Everyone's waiting for dinner? Don't you want to know how I did?" I said.

"Of course we do!" said my husband. "Well? Tell us."

I related the events of the day, and my husband acted appropriately happy for me (they learn how to do this after several years of marriage). He then turned to my 16-year-old son, Sean, whose head was still stuck in the refrigerator (perhaps thinking that if he looked in there long enough, a meal would begin to sprout from one of those aluminum-foil covered bowls).

"So, Sean, what do you think of your Mom's big news?"

"Great. I'm starving! WHAT'S FOR DINNER?"

Good Food
Liven up dinner with quick one-pot meals

With the weather turning chilly and time precious as families rush off for soccer practice, cheerleading and park district programs, the need for fast and nutritious meals is ever present.

The American Dairy Association of Illinois suggests several quick meals to liven up the hurried dinner hour.

Italian Chicken and Rice is a one-pot meal which can be made in 30 minutes or less.

Italian Chicken and Rice (serves 4)

1/2 teaspoon salt

2 tablespoons butter

4 boned and skinned chicken breast halves (about 1 & 1/2 pounds)

1/2 cup chopped onion

1 can (14-1/2 ounces) Italian stewed tomatoes

1 can (13-3/4 ounces) ready-to-serve chicken broth

1 cup long grain white rice (uncooked)

1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

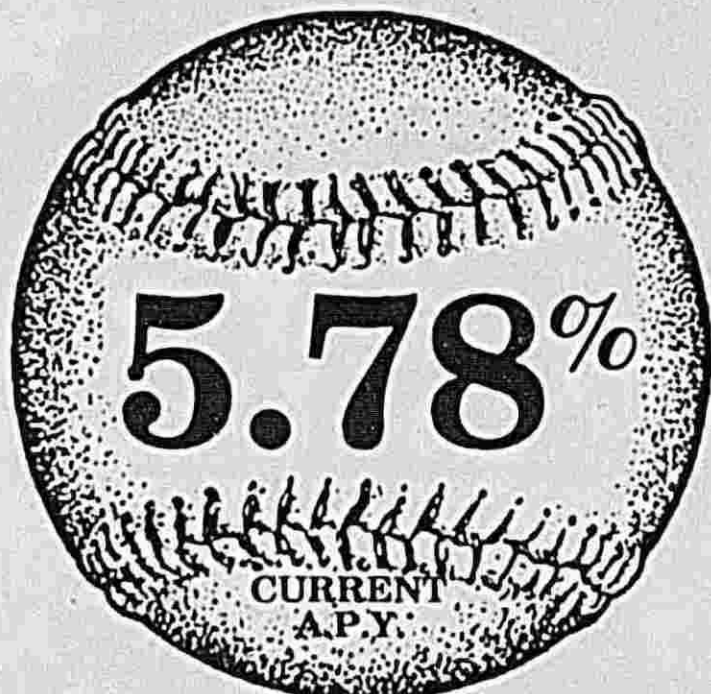

1/2 teaspoon Italian seasoning

1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

4 ounces Mozzarella cheese, cut in 1/4 inches slices

Season chicken breast with salt. In a large skillet over medium heat melt butter. Add chicken and cook until brown, about 2 minutes on each side; remove from skillet. To skillet add onion; cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until tender, about 5 minutes. Add tomatoes, chicken broth, rice, 1/2 cup water, the Parmesan cheese, Italian seasoning and garlic powder; bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer for 5 minutes. Return reserved chicken to skillet; simmer covered, until rice is tender, about 15 minutes; remove from heat. Top chicken with Mozzarella cheese, cover until cheese melts, about 1 minute.

Women now need to understand long range financial planning

CAROL MILKE-DIGMAN

Women are entering an exciting era in which many will be taking a much more active roll in family finances.

Women have had multiple priorities competing for their time and energy. Now they have realized that it is important to take an interest in their long term financial goals. It's estimated that 80 to 90 percent of women will have to take charge of their finances at some point in their lives.

All too often, women have been forced to assume these responsibilities due to divorce or to the death of a spouse, often times accompanied by emotional and domestic turmoil. The decisions made during these periods are likely to be critical to her financial well being and that of the family.

Females have often played a major role in the day to day management of household finances. However, they have been less involved in the long term financial planning like college funding and retirement planning.

In previous generations women had limited roles to play in financial planning. As a result, most of today's adult women were not raised with the expectation that they would need to be involved with financial matters.

Another reason is that women are much too busy. Females are under tremendous pressure to succeed at work, manage our domestic lives, be loving wives and mothers, participate in the community and stay in good physical condition. It's little wonder that learning about finances and investing is just one more thing to deal with.

It is important, however, to get started. The first step can be as easy as starting a regular savings plan. Also, start paying attention to investments available around you. Begin by reading financial papers, going to the library or taking a course at your local high school or local college.

Aside from the work place, women handle nutrition, scheduling health care and the emotional well being of the family. Any woman who is capable of all this can surely handle a long term financial plan.

Women are at different stages in their lives. Depending on age and family makeup i.e. ages of children, income and current savings, one can prioritize their needs. Each stage represents a different financial struggle. You need to look at your finances, your annual income and formulate a plan. This plan is like a roadmap into the future. Whether it is saving for your first home, for college or for retirement there are steps to be followed. Also keep in mind that along with saving, you need to protect your family due to unforeseen death or disability. It is important to review your life insurance and disability insurance while planning your savings program. Remember you need not do it on your own. Both men and women should seek the advice of a professional to help your financial goals.

For additional information or a financial worksheet to calculate what you need to save for college, a home, or retirement, write or call, Top Filte Financial Services, 633 Skokie Blvd., Northbrook, IL 60062 or call 509-5093.

Editors note: Carol Milke-Digman has been in the financial services arena for over 10 years. She works with individuals, many corporations and municipal pension funds. She welcomes questions. Write to Top-Filte Financial Services, 633 Skokie Blvd., Suite 308A, Northbrook, IL 60062 or call 509-5093.

Considering investment alternatives

People who invest in CDs are realizing that rates just aren't what they used to be. As CDs mature, or when they look at investing their retirement lump sum distribution, the reality that rates are lower than they have been in several years hits investors hard.

People are seeking alternative investments in greater and greater numbers. This diversification may not only increase their yields, but can add positive long-term dimensions to their investment programs.

Here are some options for people to consider:

1. Stretch out the time frame of the investments. Many people keep their money in maturities of one year or less. By spreading their investments over different time lengths, money comes available for reinvestment on different dates. This limits the risk of having to take what you can get when all your money comes due at once.

2. Look into annuities. Annuity contracts are popular alternatives to CDs. When you purchase an annuity, the money is deposited with an insurance company. During the "buildup phase," the money collects interest at competitive rates—in many cases, one or two percentage points higher than CDs. During the "pay-out phase," the insurance company makes regular payments to the investor, while the remaining balance continues to earn interest.

3. Consider bond funds. Unlike CDs, the value of the money invested in bond funds can go up and down over time. Bond funds can hold short, intermediate or long-term investments and can also be found in high, medium or low-grade quality.

4. Look into stock funds. Use assets you don't expect to need for the next few years, and use tested techniques such as dollar cost averaging into stock funds to make these investments.

FREE Report Reveals The 10 Biggest Mistakes Retirees make And How To Avoid Them!

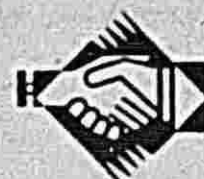

Northbrook, IL - A local retirement expert has just published a report that explains the 10 biggest mistakes people make when they retire, and how to avoid them. He cited an example of a couple who took their retirement money and invested almost all of it into "risk free" things, and had to eventually move in with their children because they literally ran out of money. Another woman had to pay over $29,000 in needless income taxes because she made a seemingly small mistake with the choices she made at retirement. Obviously, the mistake wasn't so small. Retirement is a point in your life that doesn't allow the luxury of time to make up for mistakes. Once you've reached that age, you have little or no room for "trial and error" methods of taking care of your money.

Accordingly, the retirement expert has prepared a FREE report called, "The Ten Biggest Mistakes People Make When Retiring, And How To Avoid Them And How To Stop Using 'Trial And Error' As Your Main Technique Of Retirement Financial Management."

The report is available by calling 1-800-640-5530 for a FREE recorded message.

-CRITIC'S CHOICE- 'Gypsy' has withstood test of time

Ann Arvia is raising the roof at Drury Lane Theater in Oakbrook Terrace, where she plays the lead in a punchy production of "Gypsy."

Tautly directed by Gary Griffin, this musical—from an autobiography by Arthur Laurents and Stephen Sondheim with music by Jule Styne and lyrics by Sondheim—has withstood the test of time.

In the role, Arvia is relentless as the stage mother who foists her dreams of stardom onto her reluctant daughters. The allure of vaudeville is so strong that it clouds Mama Rose's vision of reality and ultimately ruins her personal relationships.

The cast includes Jonathan Weir as Herbie, the soft-hearted agent with a love that's like a bottomless pit, and Jessica Boevers as Louise, the late bloomer who finds show business success as a stripper. Felicia Fields is a stand-out with a gimmick in a minor role as the brash chlorine Mazeppa.

"Gypsy" also features some of the musical theater's gems: "Everything's Coming Up Roses," "Let Me Entertain You," "Together Wherever We Go" and "Small World."

Props and costuming are well executed.

"Gypsy" will run through Oct. 15. Ticket information is available at 530-0111.—by TOM WITOM

'Clockers' deals with people, influences

Although his films have always been a cut above the average, Spike Lee has stopped himself from striking anywhere near his real directorial potential because of his refusal to recognize that the spectrum of life has other important colors in it besides black.

He's often let being a minority activist narrow his judgment, ergo his camera lens.

Lee has hit new film-making heights with his latest, and best effort yet, "Clockers," the story of a 19-year-old, African-American crack dealer.

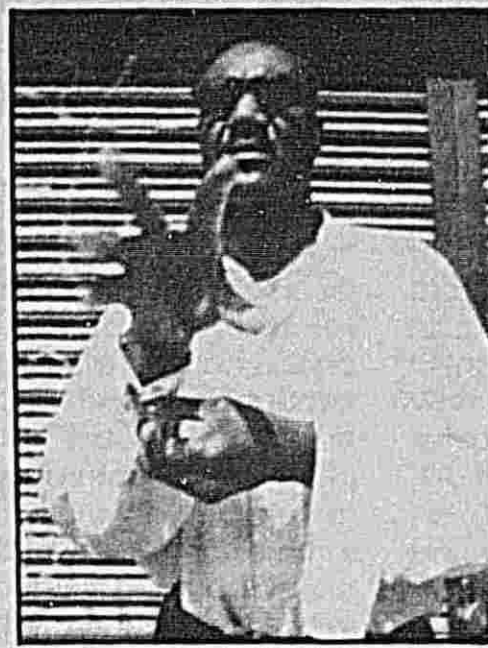

For the first time, Lee delves into the reasons why his characters do the dastardly things they do, instead of automatically trying to convince the audience that it's all the result of black suppression. This allows for surprising twists and turns throughout the picture, keeping the interest level up.

Harvey Keitel portrays a tough, maybe even slightly racist, but human and fair white cop, of which we are certain there are many, even on the LAPD. John Turturro comes along for the squad car ride.

Dragging "Clockers" out of the crack dealer film formula is the mystery that fogs over the usual swear-'em-up, shoot-'em up, films of its genre.

The talented cast, because of the insight of Richard Price's book of the same name that the film is based on, and Lee's suddenly in-depth, almost color-blind direction, comes up with the most realistic people yet in a film of this kind. It seems there are no pure saints or only racist monsters.

A standout is Delroy Lindo's portrayal of Rodney, the nurturing, yet unbelievably evil drug lord, who controls his underlings with the power and dedication of the devil himself, which of course makes him love them and hate them all the more.

Mekhi Phifer plays Strike, a 19-year-old crack pusher, adopted by Rodney and manipulated by him until he finds himself suspected of the murder of a dealer that the drug king-pin has ordered him to kill.

Things get complicated when his very straight brother Victor, played by Isaiah Washington, confesses to the crime. Did he really do it? Is he protecting his brother? Or is there another dark story amid these many indigo tales that explains it all?

The alternatives, that range from the normal to the psychotic, are maybe a bit too many, muddying-up the picture's innate clarity.

The fact that Strike, our hero if there is any, is a Rubik's Cube of a person of the streets, and not the most desirable streets, gives birth to happenings that dare complacency.

This is a worthwhile effort, if the street talk, the gore and all the other objectionable bits of decor don't get in the way of your appreciating bad as not all bad and good as not perfect. Not for children, the R-rated "Clockers" gets 4.5 out of five stars for those who can take it for what it is; maybe a new social conscience!—by GLORIA DAVIS

Sunburst beauty pageant, baby contest set

The Grand Palace, 5550 Grand Ave., Gurnee, will be host to the Sunburst Baby and Sunburst USA Preliminary Beauty Pageant on Monday, Oct. 20. Winners and runners-up will go on to the state pageant in May to represent their area. Entries are being accepted now through pageant date. Sunburst is celebrating their 18th year and was featured on the Discovery Channel this year.

The Baby Pageant is for boys and girls in the following age groups: Baby, under 1 year; Tiny, 1 year; Little, 2 and 3 years. A king and queen will be chosen in each age group. They will receive a crown, trophy, banner and their $200 beauty entry fee paid to the State Finals. Four runners-up in each age group will receive a trophy and their $200 beauty entry fee paid to the state finals.

The Sunburst USA Pageant is for girls in these age groups: Four to 6 years; 7 to 10 years; 11 to 13 years; 14 to 17 years; and 18 to 27 years. The queen in each group will receive a crown, trophy, banner and their $200 beauty entry fee paid to the state pageant. Runners-up in every age group will receive a trophy and their $200 beauty entry fee paid to the state pageant.

Simple tips to help roses breeze through winter

It's true that roses are among the hardest inhabitants of your garden and patio planters. But, in cold winter regions, they still need protection from alternating freezes and thaws that can damage or weaken vulnerable plants.

Your first task is to discourage new growth and blooming after the flush of fall flowering, according to experts at All-America Rose Selections Inc. (AARS), an association of garden rose growers and introducers. Hybrid teas, floribundas, grandifloras, miniatures, climbers and shrub roses are all like children at bedtime—they resist settling down for their long winter's nap. The reluctance of roses to go dormant exposes new growth to drying winter winds, sudden freezes and possibly sub-zero temperatures.

Don't stimulate a new growth spurt by pruning and feeding as the time for dormancy approaches. However, keep watering throughout autumn when the bushes are especially thirsty for moisture to get ready for the dry winter season.

Incidentally, autumn is not the right time to transplant rose bushes to a new location unless absolutely necessary (such as, heaven forbid, the power or phone company needs to dig a trench through your rosebed). The best time to transplant is early spring before the plants break dormancy and just begin to bud. If you must transplant during summer or fall, leave at least a 15-inch soil ball around the roots. Improve the soil at the new site with peat or compost. If needed, mound soil around the crown and water well, the same as you would with a new rose plant you brought home from the garden center.

If you live in an area where the mercury falls below freezing and stays there for quite awhile, then your roses need winter covering. This should be done when the ground freezes solid, which generally means after several nights of temperatures in the neighborhood of 20 degrees Fahrenheit.

Although some rosarians recommend an insulating cover of leaf mulch or bark, the consensus of the pros at AARS is to mound black dirt around the base of each rose bush to a depth of about 12 inches. It's better not to use soil surrounding the plant for this purpose, because this risks accidentally exposing the rose's roots. Bringing in fresh organic soil also adds topdressing for the following spring.

Potted roses can be given either indoor or outdoor protection over winter, according to the experts. One method is to bring them into an unheated building, such as a garage or shed. To protect against temperature changes, the potted plants can be placed in open cardboard boxes or other containers and covered with insulation, such as straw, shredded newspaper or styrofoam packing material. The outdoor method is to dig a hole large enough to bury the plant up to the top of the pot. Crowns of the potted roses then are mounded with dirt the same as garden roses. Some gardeners prefer this method because they believe roses benefit from exposure to sunlight even during their dormant period.

The best assurance that your rose plants will survive the rigors of winter is in the selection. Not all roses are created equal, AARS warns. Some can survive with little outside help and others are real wimps.

Hardiness is one of the main criteria that AARS judges use in evaluating new rose varieties. And since AARS test gardens span the country, AARS winners have proven themselves in the toughest climates. The AARS seal of approval on a rose bush not only indicates many seasons of beautiful flowers—it also shows that the rose has been bred for hardiness and growing success in gardens like yours.

Creating the look, feel of a forest in a home landscape

Recently we were hired to design and install a landscape that would look and feel like a forest as our customer looked out their kitchen and dining rooms of the home. The owners were horrified by the mess the building company left by smashing their heavy equipment up against mature trees, changing the existing grade and compacting the surrounding soils by grading with heavy bulldozers. The Oaks, Hickory and Green Ash that existed on the property, along with the White Pines, had an overhead canopy that started at 50 feet and higher. We needed eye level as well as ground level plant interest to create an understory effect seen in forests.

Our first task was to heavily core-aerate the ground where compaction existed. We then added torpedo sand into the holes left by the coring as we top-dressed the area. We also removed over 50 cubic yards of topsoil and clay that was used on the forest floor. This soil had changed the grade in certain areas over 18 inches deep and would surely cause slow suffocation to the large, existing trees. Much of this soil was in the driplines of large Oaks, Hickorys and Green Ash on the property.

This preparation work was vital to perform to ensure that the existing trees would remain healthy. The grade changes had only been done 30 days prior to us performing the work, so time was still on our side. This prep work really would not have had to be done if people were more sensitive and more educated on how to protect trees during the building process.

Once we finished this work, we brought in smaller caliper trees (one-and-a-half to two inches) like Green Ash, Hickory, Black Walnut, Red, White and Chinkapin Oaks to match the existing trees. Since nature knows no spacing, these trees were planted in a scattered fashion throughout the forest. Since many of these trees were grown in a nursery situation, we had to study the light in the forest to find the most optimum place to plant these trees. Also, we had some of the overhead canopy of the existing trees pruned out for more light and for sanitation reasons.

For some other understory plant growth we used multi-stemmed Redbuds, Witchhazel, Gro-low Sumac, White Pine and Canadian Hemlock. These plants create spring flowering, fall coloring and winter interest in a forest and will do nicely as understory plants in a forested canopy of mature trees.

Next week: Perennials and more woody plants used in a forest.—by MIKE GRECO, principal of Mike Greco Landscape and Mill Creek Nurseries, Inc.

Enjoy Sunday Champagne Brunch at Sabatini's Restaurant on Long Lake

Join the Sabatini family for the start of their 49th year in the same location at Sabatini's Restaurant & Frigate Lounge.

Dine and dance to your heart's desire on Saturday nights, when Sabatini's features a three-piece orchestra that plays all of the older classics.

Three generations of Sabatinis have been in the restaurant business since 1947. Even the chef, Ralph Rossi, is a cousin hailing from Italy, having just returned from Europe with new recipes.

Diners will enjoy the many specials, including the Friday Fish Fry and Pasta Buffet for only $8.95. Sunday's Champagne Brunch is also popular at $8.95 (champagne included) for adults, $7.95 for senior citizens, and children under six are free. Brunch, offered from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., features homemade pastries and pastas, with unlimited champagne.

Senior Specials are offered on Mondays and Wednesdays. Those over 55 get a complete dinner with a cocktail for only $5.95. The rotating menu always features something delicious! Wednesday brings the All-You-Can-Eat Fish Fry for $5.95, seniors $4.95, and Thursday features Surf 'n Turf at $9.95, including a cocktail.

Also on Thursdays, enjoy Sabatini's popular BBQ rib and variety buffet for only $6.95 (includes soup, salad bar, and homemade desserts). In Frigate Lounge on Thursday night, there's All-You-Can-Eat Pizza for just $2.95, with pitchers of beer at only $4. During football season on Sundays and Mondays, get a pitcher of beer and a homemade pizza for just $6.

Banquet facilities that accommodating up to 200 people are available. To reserve a date, call Ralph Sabatini at 587-3211.

For a relaxing, delicious meal and breathtaking view of Long Lake, visit Sabatini's Restaurant & Frigate Lounge at 25250 W. Lake Shore Dr., in Ingleside (on Rollins Rd., between Wilson and Fairfield). Hours are open Monday through Saturday (closed Tuesdays) at 4 p.m., and Sunday at 9:30 a.m.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A minor argument ensues early in the week concerning something which happens at home. Guard your words. Something said in anger won't be easily forgotten.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You're tempted this week to try something new on the work front. However, it's not a good time to take such chances. Someone close to you is being unusually secretive about something.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Your finances aren't in the best shape right now, so it's not a good idea to go on a shopping spree this week. You'd also be better off leaving those credit cards firmly tucked into your wallet.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You're not at your attentive best this week as your mind has a tendency to wander. If you daydream too much, you could find yourself putting in extra hours over the weekend in order to catch up with unfinished work.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Don't pay too much attention to those well-meaning friends who are bent on giving you advice, especially since what you hear is conflicting. A bigwig is having some difficulty making a decision and you can help.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You could fall for someone's sob story and be tempted to lend that person money. This isn't a wise idea and you should avoid an unfortunate tendency to be gullible this week. Over the weekend, tend to unfinished domestic chores.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You're put off this week by someone's capricious behavior, especially since that person is taking shameful advantage of your good nature. Speak your mind and set this person straight.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You know that all good things come to those who wait, so just be patient. Something very good is about to come your way concerning your career or love life. Watch your home appliances since one of them is coming to the end of its days.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You vacillate this week and have a hard time making up your mind about things. Bigwigs are unimpressed with such waffling. If need be, let a friend or co-worker take the lead now and stick to working behind the scenes.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A delay can be expected early in the week on a financial deal you've been considering. This is good since you need more time to consider all the ramifications. A rumor monger is spreading nasty tales, but ignore this.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You could find yourself in a rather sticky situation between two friends. However, it's best to mind your own business since they will make up and you'll wind up the odd man out.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your inconsistent behavior is drawing some negative attention from friends, family and co-workers. This isn't like you. Take some time this week to sit down and get to the bottom of what's bothering you.

women of China, said Diamond, who looked at the situation through different eyes.

"It was disturbing," she said. "The people who spoke with us were specially selected to work with Westerners. That, to us, was an indication of a deeper problem, that they [the government] had been quite successful in propaganda. The masses were told to stay out of the way, to go about their business."

Chen seemed unwilling to admit people could be "drawn along" in that manner, said Diamond. "In order to survive in the culture they had to accept certain things."

Both Diamond and Salvi were struck by the different priorities advocated by those from different areas. While delegates from developed countries put much importance on the rights of gays and the importance of birth control, those from third world nations brought the more basic concerns of the right to quality medical care, education and basic human dignity.

"The developing countries were antagonized by the agenda," said Diamond. "They are trying to maintain their traditional cultural identity."

During the conference Salvi worked with a contingent from Africa, whose concerns likewise centered on not lifestyles, but basic health threats like malaria, tuberculosis and cholera. "Authentic" women, she said, have the capacity for human development.

"Many of us pursue this quality through motherhood," explained the mother of four. "Single women still have the idea of advancing human development, through education, social work or nursing, and fostering human development in others."

"Women seek out other alternatives to war and combat," she said. "Women involved in public life bring special gifts to play in all aspects of society for the betterment of all people. The NIW sets out to strengthen women's voices in the world."

The benefit is scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. Oct. 8. The cost of the dinner and program is $50. For reservations or more information call Mary Barto, vice chairman of the NIW, at 949-8270. Reservations may be made by mail but must be received by Oct. 4 at P.O. Box 459, Wauconda, IL 60084.

Corn fared much better in an early frost that devastated the Lake County soybean crop.—Photo by Todd F. Helsler

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Jack Frost's unwelcome early visit this year could be disastrous to some of the crops in Lake County. For soybean farmers in central and western Lake County, it is already too late.

"There are a lot of acres of soybeans that could stand a minimum of two more weeks before a frost," said Dick Raftis, director of the Lake County Farm Bureau.

Fremont Township Supervisor Pete Tekampe, who farms 1,000 acres in the heart of the county, estimates he lost nearly 40 percent of his bean crop to a freeze. It will take another 10 days or so before he can actually assess the damage but the leaves on his damaged beans have turned black and fallen to the ground. Ironically, another frost is not in the short term forecast.

"We could have a month of good weather now. Unfortunately, it only takes one night of freezing," Raftis said.

Raftis said the county, which still has a large farming base, has 30,000 acres of the soybeans planted matched by 30,000 acres of corn. The soil was dry for a full month when beans were planted whereas the corn, which was planted earlier, had already taken root. When the rains finally came this summer, the corn prospered while the beans were already stunted.

Tekampe estimates 10 percent of his corn was also damaged by the early frost, which does not typically arrive until the middle of October.

An early frost before the soybeans mature is a serious blow to the Lake County farm economy. Raftis explained if beans are frozen before maturity, they shrivel and are not capable of producing their full amount of soybean oil. A soybean's second most precious commodity behind protein is the production of oil. In some early freeze renders virtually useless the immature crop that remains in the field.

The corn crop promises to be bountiful in spite of the frost but it does face a different enemy. Raftis said there were an inordinate amount of corn borers reported in the state this year. A corn borer is a small, worm-like parasite that borrows into the stalk, eventually eating entirely through it if given the time. If it rains too much during harvest and prevents the farmers from picking the corn due to muddy conditions, the corn stalks could end up on the ground.

For the crops that remain, there is actually good news on the horizon. The prices on grain are up in a market that has See HARVEST page C2

Canines offer security where others fear

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

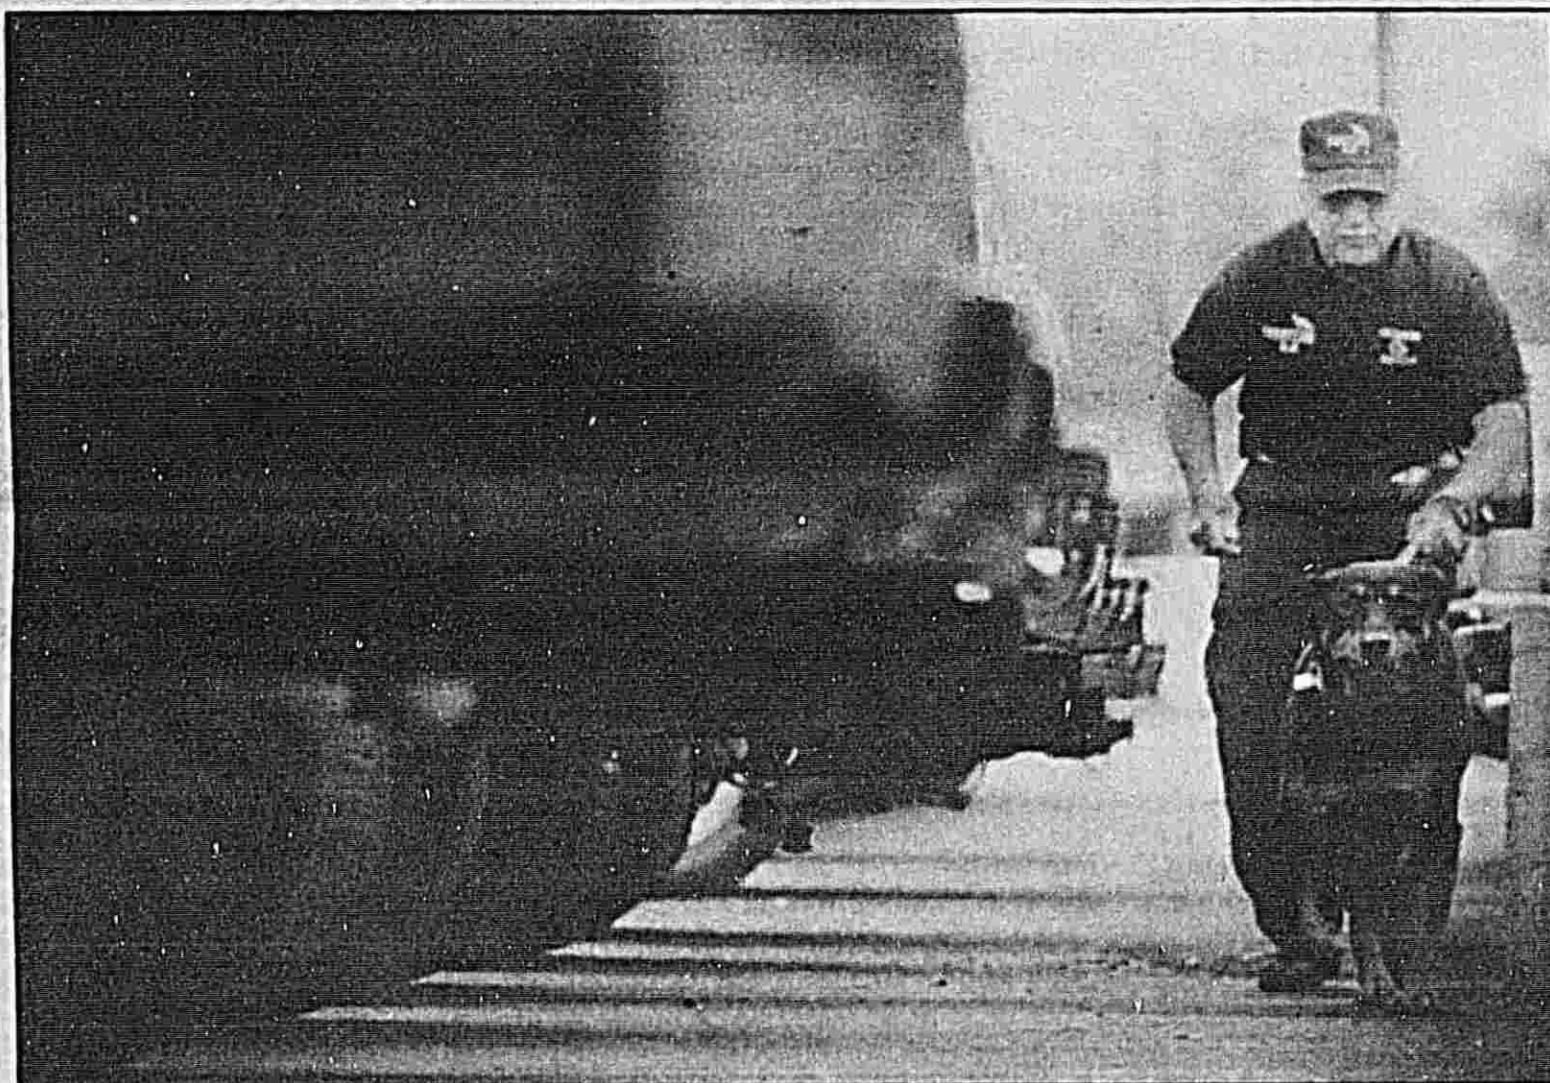

Mike Sipari is not afraid to be caught in even the most scary places in the middle of the night while on security detail. Instead of a weapon at his side, he has a lovable pet that can be transformed into a snarling beast at his single command.

Sipari is the owner of Frontline K-9 Security Service, a Round Lake Beach company whose motto is "Serving where others fear to serve."

The company specializes in providing security to outdoor businesses, executive parks, private residences and troubled neighborhoods with the use of a handler and specially trained dogs. The formula works.

Barbara Gordon, who privately operates the Lake County Community Action Project through the benefit of federal grants, hired Sipari's company to come in for two months and clean up the worst neighborhood in North Chicago. That street is now one of the quietest and Sipari has garnered the praises of the mayor and the chief of police. Both have indicated they want to bring Sipari's forces back into the company if they can find the funding.

Sipari said most of the people coming into the neighborhood's buildings after dark were doing so to buy illicit drugs. To accomplish the task, Frontline's handlers and dogs stopped those people from entering.

John Nikopoulos of Frontline K-9 Security in Round Lake Beach demonstrates how "Guardian," a security Rottweiler, goes after a prowler at Rockenbach Chevrolet. The car dealership in Grayslake has started to use the K-9 security after hours.—Photo by Todd F. Helsler

"I set a 9 p.m. curfew. People coming in after that time had to prove they lived there or they didn't get in," Sipari said.

He said most people did not want to go through the extra trouble to get in but a few who became belligerent quickly backed down. Each dog is trained to protect its handler. If it senses the handler is threatened,

When in open territory, the dogs are trained to get the offender down on the ground, then stay at bay as long as the offender behaves. The handler then calls the police to make the arrest. To date, Sipari says most people have shown a healthy respect for his brand of security.

"One guy was still 150 feet away trying to get into a car. I told him if he moved I would let the dog loose. He got down on his knees like I told him to," Sipari said.

Sipari got started in the security business after a law enforcement career which included handling dogs. Over time, the number of dogs in his house grew. He See K-9 page C2

Vehicle sales expected to rebound through year-end

Sales of autos and light trucks have risen sharply in recent weeks and will remain strong through December, said Diane Swonk, Deputy Chief Economist of The First National Bank of Chicago.

Vehicle sales in August were already well above the levels expected for the rest of the year — with domestic sales hitting their highest seasonally adjusted rate in six years — Swonk said in the monthly First Forecasts newsletter.

"Some of those gains will be carried into the fourth quarter," she said. Gains in vehicle sales and equipment production, as well as appliance and furniture purchases sparked by a mini housing boom are projected to propel the Great Lakes economy to five percent growth in the fourth quarter, as measured by the First Chicago Great Lakes Index, Swonk said.

The Great Lakes Index, designed by First Chicago, measures the total output of goods and services within the five-state region of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin. Of course, the auto industry is a crucial part of the Great Lakes economy.

"We have been skeptical about an auto sales rebound for most of the year," Swonk said. "Now, however, a number of developments give us reason for optimism."

The developments include:

- Consumers seem willing to spend after finally paying down of the debt they accumulated in the spending surge of the Christmas season in 1994;

- Consumer incomes and automaker incentives have accelerated;

- Car-buying attitudes have improved; and
- The mini-boom in the housing market is nearly played out, so consumers are turning their attention to other purchases. "Big-ticket spenders will be looking more at light vehicles than housing in the fourth quarter," Swonk said.

Swonk also said that fleet sales are on the rise, after the Big 3 automakers — General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler — curbed sales to rental car companies in an effort to improve their profit margins.

"The mileage on rental cars starting to get a bit high, and both sides were finally willing to deal," Swonk said. "Last month, General Motors said fleet sales would be stronger for the rest of the year."

BUSINESS BRIEFS

LAKE COUNTY — This year Subway Sandwiches and Salads, the world's largest submarine sandwich franchise, is celebrating 30 years in the restaurant business. Founded in Connecticut during the summer of 1965, Subway is now an international chain that boasts over 11,000 locations in 27 countries. Subway president and co-founder Fred DeLuca began building the sandwich empire at the age of 17. He simply wanted to earn enough money to help pay for his college education. A family friend suggested DeLuca open a sandwich shop and even provided a $1,000 loan to kick off the venture. After a very rocky start, the submarine sandwich shop endeavor snowballed into what has now become the second largest fast food franchise in the world.

Cherry buys sensors company

WAUKEGAN — The Cherry Corporation (NASDAQ: CHERA and CHERB) announced today it has purchased the Hall Effect sensor design and manufacturing operation of Concord Sensors, Inc., Concord, New Hampshire. This acquisition continues Cherry's advancement into the growing solid state sensor market and adds to the company's existing product offerings for the automotive, computer, and consumer and commercial markets. Cherry considers the development of sensor products for its existing markets a key component in its long-term strategy. This acquisition brings to Cherry a group of sensor experts and their technical resources which will form the basis for a sensor design and development center to be located in Concord, New Hampshire. Current annual sales of Concord Sensors, Inc., are in the range of $400,000.

Magazine honors First Chicago

LAKE COUNTY — For the second consecutive year, The First National Bank of Chicago was named by Working Mother magazine as one of the 100 Best Employers for working mothers. "This recognition from Working Mother magazine and similar honors underscore the importance of First Chicago programs that help employees — both men and women — balance work, family and health issues," said First Chicago Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Richard L. Thomas. Working Mother magazine noted that First Chicago's year-old Work and Family Resource Center has saved at least $50,000 in time workers would have taken to resolve child or eldercare issues. First Chicago's work in this area will be recognized by the national Employee Assistance Professionals Association at its annual conference in November.

"I have always been into dogs. I have a flock of dogs who are trained and I thought it was time they should support themselves," Sipari said.

The "flock" has supported itself well so far. Aside from cleaning up a drug-dealing neighborhood, the dogs have made apprehensions at car dealerships and successfully guarded thousands of cartons of cigarettes, worth millions of dollars on the black market, during a Phillip Morris recall. The company is also being endorsed by a letter from US Rep. Philip Crane (R-Dist. 8).

Sipari has also started a non profit organization called the We Care Foundation. The foundation will take the dogs nationwide to assist in search and rescue projects as well as missing children cases. He will also take the dogs around to local schools to give demonstrations about security or demonstrating his narcotics-sniffing dogs in Say No to Drugs campaigns.

Harvest

not seen significant change in 20 years. Raftis says the reason for the upturn is what the rest of our capitalist system is based on—supply and demand.

"Consumption has exceeded production the last couple of years," Raftis confirmed.

In years past, grain production has been so heavy it has actually been left over for more than a year. Not true any more. Raftis said carry over for corn and soybeans is now the lowest it has ever been. Also, this year's crop is expected to be down 20 percent from 1994's bumper harvest.

All these factors coupled with more erodable land being set aside for non production has created an environment where grain production in the United States matches the country's propensity for consuming it.

Due to a shorter growing season, lake effect, and soil quality Lake County's yield per acre is behind the state average. Corn yield is 95 bushels per acre compared to a 130-bushel average for the state. Soy bean yield is 35 bushels per acre compared to a 44-bushel average for the state.

Cambridge wins nature awards

Cambridge Homes in Libertyville has received two Global Releaf awards for excellence in designing and building with nature in its communities of Timber Creek in Libertyville and Oakwood in Warren Township.

"Global Releaf for New Communities" is a joint awards program sponsored by American Forests and the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB). Cambridge was the only builder in Illinois and one of only five nationwide to receive the 1995 award. A total of six new home communities were recognized nationally and Cambridge was the only builder to receive an award for more than one community.

The Global Releaf for New Communities awards program recognizes builders and developers who demonstrate excellence in working with the environment by conserving, planting and transplanting trees in their communities.

American Forests, the nation's oldest citizen conservation group, and NAHB, the building industry's trade association, launched the program in 1991. Global Releaf, American Forests' worldwide positive-action tree-planting campaign, responds to growing public demand for, and willingness to invest in environmentally sensitive development.

"A lot of planning and effort goes into our communities to create a quality living environment for residents to more fully enjoy. A central element of providing these types of environments is to preserve the natural amenities inherent in our communities," said Richard J. Brown, president of Cambridge Homes.

Cambridge Homes has received two Global Releaf awards for excellence in designing and building with nature in its communities of Timber Creek in Libertyville and Oakwood in Warren Township. Cambridge was the only Illinois builder and one of five nationwide to get the 1995 award. The awards are sponsored by American Forests and the National Association of Home Building.

Cambridge will be honored at the National Urban Forest Conference to be held later in September in New York City, and will be recognized at the NAHB national convention in Houston this January.

Timber Creek features 68 executive style single-family homes. Oakwood is planned for 227 single-family homes.

With the merger with Lexington Homes, Cambridge Homes is among the largest homebuilders in the nation. The Libertyville-based company offers a variety of single-family and townhome designs with prices ranging from the low $100,000s to more than $400,000.

MURPHY ON REAL ESTATE

Terri Murphy

The challenges of selling

Finding a buyer to buy your home used to be the challenge when marketing a home to sell. The second challenge was getting the home to "appraise" for the amount of the mortgage. This appraisal is done by the lender, as the contract may provide that the closing of the sale will be contingent upon the buyer getting financing to purchase the property.

The lender will require an appraisal on the property to insure that the value is there, and that the property ratios meet the requirements of the lending institution, and the amount being borrowed can be "secured" by the real estate by the property's value.

Another contingency has been surfacing in the residential market with the purchase of our corporate and executive transferee. Several of the major corporations have added a rider to the purchase agreement stipulating that any offer made by their employee is also contingent upon a "pre-purchase appraisal" separate from the one ordered by the lender for the buyer. The rider goes on to specify that if the appraisal is less than the agreed purchase price, the purchaser has the option to renegotiate.

The rider is the result of many corporate transferees that previously had moved to a new area and may have overpaid for a property. The company is looking to minimize losses if the corporate employee is transferred again in the future.

The challenge for you as a homeowner is to keep the property priced realistically. We all like to compare how our property had improvements and advantages over a similar home in the neighborhood, but an appraiser will be making an objective report based on the past "current" activity in the area, usually only going back about six months of the past market. You may know some inside scoop on why the neighbor sold low, etc., but this information will not be reflected in the comparables that the appraiser will be looking at. The numbers will tell the story, and it's as simple as that!

Tangible improvements, like preferred location, oversized or double lots, will affect the sale more than great wallpaper and a ceiling fan or two.

The rider will usually coordinate with the other contingencies like home inspection and attorney approval and fall within the same time allotment, so as the seller, you are not waiting usually longer than 10 days. In many cases, the home will continue to show to prospective buyers until the contingencies have been met, thus minimizing lost time on the market.

Be optimistic about your pricing if it is based in solid fact, but remember that the market will ultimately dictate the value.

Home sales up 73 percent

Century 21 Kreuser and Seiler in Libertyville recorded the best July in the firm's history, reported co-owner M.J. Seiler. Unit sales in July were up 76 percent and dollar volume was up 73 percent. The increased activity is attributed to low mortgage rates, a strong local economy and the firm's increased corporate relocation business. One of the top Century 21 office in Illinois, Century 21 Kreuser and Seiler was ranked 47 of over 5,500 Century 21 offices nationwide in 1994.

Bill Grams, co-owner of the Volo Antique and Auto Museum, sits in one of the classic vehicles used to promote the business. Volo '95 car auction scheduled

The "Volo '95" Collector Car Auction & Expo will be presented by Kruse International on Oct. 14 and 15 at the Volo Antique Auto Museum and Antique Malls complex. This will be the 11th annual autumn auction and expo presented by Kruse and Volo, and is hosted by the Grams family, owners and operators of the complex since 1961.

Hundreds of collector cars and trucks will be featured at "Volo '95." This national event will offer top quality vehicles representing antiques, classics, milestones, muscled, ponies and others, affording unique opportunities for both experienced and beginning collectors.

"Volo '95" is open to the general public as well as sellers and buyers. Spectators are welcome, with general admission cost at $8 for adults and $3 for children to age 12. Ticket prices includes auction, expo, museum, and parking.

The Volo Antique Auto Museum is celebrating its 34th year. Its multi-million-dollar showcase and marketplace is housed in three buildings. Some 200 cars span 100 years, from 1886 to 1986, and feature American and European models.

Volo Antique Malls I, II, and III offer over 200,000 of the finest antiques and collections. No admission fee is required to the malls or gift shops.

The 30-acre Volo country complex is on Volo Village Rd., one half mile west of Rte. 12, Rand Rd., in Volo. There is easy exit and entrance off of new Rte. 120.

Those interested in participating should call "Volo '95" at (815) 385-8408 or Kruse International at (800) 968-4444.

Finch vice president Krit dead at 75

Robert Krit, vice president of Development and Public Affairs for Finch University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School since 1968, is dead at the age of 75.

"Bob Krit will be remembered for his graciousness, his compassion, his many acts of kindness and for his unfailing courage and sense of humor," stated a Finch University press release.

When not raising funds for the Finch University, he served as a consultant for several non profit groups, including the Polish Welfare Association of Chicago, the Metropolitan YMCA of Chicago and St. Gregory High School.

A Wilmette resident, Krit drew on his more than 40 years of experience in fund raising to author "The Fund-Raising Handbook," published in 1991. Krit previously served as Director of Development and Public Affairs for Mount Sinai Hospital Medical Center, the director of Medical Development for the University of Chicago and State Campaign Director for the American Cancer Society, Illinois Division.

Krit was well known in the Chicago area for his work in radio and television. For four years, he was the producer and host of an early morning health talk show on NBC and also was producer and host of "Coping," a health talk show on WSNS-TV that received seven Emmy nominations. Krit also worked in radio in Lake County as host of a health talk show called "Chicago Medical School Reports."

Among his awards, he was especially proud of his Distinguished Service Award and Fellowship in the Institute of Medicine of Chicago and of the work he did for many non-profit groups in Chicago and Lake County. He served on the boards of the Lawson YMCA, the United Way of Lake County, the Illinois Foundation of Dental Care for the handicapped, Illinois Council on Drug Abuse and North Chicago Citizens against drug abuse.

The Russian-born Krit came to the United States in 1923, later serving in the Army Air Forces during World War II and held the rank of First Lieutenant. Survivors include son, Justin, daughters Margaret and Melissa, granddaughters Kelsey and Mariah, brother Norman and his wife Brenda and beloved friend of many years Nina Barker.

Let pride show

I'd like to know what happened to all the past Miss Undenhurst pictures. Why are they not displayed anywhere? We have quite a few. I haven't seen the black Miss Undenhurst's picture displayed, either. Are they collecting dust somewhere? We display past mayors. Is this a sexist thing? We have plenty of places like the Park District which has walls great for displaying pictures. Undenhurst should be proud of these girls. Wake up, Undenhurst!

Shoddy work done

I'd like to say that the Wauconda village officials need to investigate the builders of new homes before they issue permits for a new subdivision. There's a certain construction company that has built new homes in Lake Zurich, Algonquin, and Wauconda. They take money from hard-working individuals and many times leave homes constructed with defects and poor workmanship. Customer service during the warranty period also leaves much to be desired. Some years ago, unhappy Lake Zurich residents picketed at the Wauconda subdivision. Residents of Algonquin filed a class action lawsuit against them in June of this year. Wauconda residents complain and get excuses instead of satisfaction. If village officials would check into the homeowner satisfaction record of builders, it would be doing current and future residents a great service. After all, who wouldn't want to live in a village with a reputation of quality built homes?

To all the parents and children that I supposedly offended at the Murphy open house Wednesday. I'm sorry if you were offended, but not for my actions. I would offend the President of the United States in defense of my child's rights. That's the problem with this country today. Get involved with what's going on with your children or you'll pay the price later.

Ineffective

Wauconda voters, what have we done to the Wauconda Park District board? By electing Joseph Wundson this past April, he has only attended four of the first eight board meetings and has missed six of six committee meetings. I witnessed you at Wind Court restaurant prior to the ninth meeting on Sept. 12 building your liquid courage in which Commissioner Wanda Kadlac asked for your resignation because you are a non-involved commissioner. You once again lied to your supporters and are an embarrassment

Don't litter

I was driving behind a towing truck on Grand Ave. in Undenhurst around 6:30 p.m. on Sept. 14 when I saw one of the men throw a paper cup out the window. I can't believe people are still doing this. What kind of message is this towing company sending out to the public when its drivers are littering our neighborhood. Shame on you, litterbug!

Thanks, Spencer

Hats off to Spencer Schein, our reporter for Wauconda. Your honest and complete journalistic skills are superior when you write about our community. Thank you, Spencer!

No surprise

So I see we've got just another lying developer. They say they're going to develop around the mature trees and they're out here right now just bulldozing over them, not even caring what's living in them. Just another lying developer. Surprise, surprise.

A fact of life

This is to 'Messy Hills' from Hainesville's Deerpoint section. You're not the only one who have to put up with mess from new construction. We had to put up with your mess at West Trail from your construction. This is how new construction works and how we get new neighbors. Let's not crab about it, let's just be good neighbors and figure like we did that we'll have to clean up the mess after they're done. Construction in Deerpoint started at 6 a.m. and sometimes didn't end until 9 p.m. So you put up with it like the rest of did when your house was going up.

Compliments

I'm calling to say how much I like Ruth Sutton's column. It's really interesting. I'm keeping the articles she's writing about Fox Lake history since my kids are growing up in Fox Lake. I also like messages from your business community. It's pretty neat when you go into more detail into what some of these businesses are and what they do. Lastly, I think Tina Swelch is a wonderful reporter. She gets around everywhere and I really enjoy her writing.

Seeing dollar signs

I'd like to comment that I went to my hair salon in Antioch for two years to the same hairstylist. When I called recently to make an appointment, they said she was no longer there and would not tell me where she was. I was very mad and I know they knew exactly where she went. I found out through an ad in Lakeland. It shows they only wanted to make money off of me and not tell me where she was. I think that's awful and poor work ethics. See LIPSERVICE page C5

What can you get?

If you don't like the Stanton lunch program, you can send your lunch to school with your child. How much can you get at a restaurant or even McDonald's for $1.80?

Pleasantly surprised

I'm a parent of an Antioch high school freshman. I was scared to death when she was going to start school, but I must say I'm very pleased with everything that has to do with Antioch. The faculty at the open house seemed wonderful and the new administration looks like they really have things in hand. We're looking forward to a great year. Thanks, Antioch, keep up the good work.

Keep Big Hollow

I'd like to comment on the Big Hollow School's name being changed to Vern Middle School. How did they come up with this idea after 150 years of being called Big Hollow? They didn't ask parents, taxpayers, or the children. I think it's stupid and the name should remain Big Hollow.

Let it go

If a homeowner living in Round Lake Beach has a notion to improve his property, he should be prepared to be hassled, delayed, and frustrated. Between the cost of the permits and overzealous inspectors, by the time the project is finished, he'll probably end up with ulcers. Instead of encouraging improvement, they put so many obstacles in one's path, the homeowner comes to the conclusion to let their property go to pot, which is obviously what our city wants.

County's growing

I'm from Grayslake and I'd like to respond to the Misty Hill Farms caller. I know what you're complaining about, all the dirt and dust. But what did you think was going to happen to the empty land next to you? That's what living in Lake County is all about. Grow up!

Lady's doing great

Recycling rebuttal — In defense of women workers, the men are jealous, the lady is doing a great job of driving, collecting cans, etc. Dirty diapers are not recyclable. Some people are ignorant and don't want to change. Recycling is here to stay. I praise all women workers. Give her a break, she's just doing her job.

The jig is up

To the Hispanic woman who stole the sweater jacket from the garage sale on Lakeview Dr. in Round Lake. We know who you are per your license plates. We'll give you the option of returning it one way or another, or returning to pay for it. How low can you get? Remember, you have to live with yourself.

No permission

In response to "So sorry," your apology is good except I didn't like the part about screaming foreign languages that no one can understand. If they have a way to communicate, let them use it. Don't expect them to check with you to see if the language is okay.

Newspapers

Tony Huber,

Age 72, of Antioch, IL passed away Sunday, September 24, 1995 at his home. He was born January 30, 1923 in Winter, WI the son of the late Erhardt and Kate (Longly) Huber. Tony was a charter member of the Winter, WI fire department. He served in the US Army during WWII and moved to Antioch in 1955. He was a member of St. Peter Church of Antioch. Tony worked for Hough International in Libertyville, IL as a shipping clerk. He also had worked for 10 years as a bus driver for the Antioch High School. On September 21, 1947 he married Avis Madge Dodge in Lake Villa, IL.

Survivors include his wife, Avis; 1 son, Joseph Huber of Antioch; 2 daughters, Janice (Harry) Flanagan of Wildwood, IL and Jennifer (William) Rowe of Wauconda, IL; 2 sisters, Marie (Elmer) Kuehni of Boyd, WI and Theresa (Emil) Johnson of Winter, WI; 4 granddaughters, Toni (Bill) Thompson, Renee Rowe, Michelle Jenelewicz and Sarah Huber; 2 grandsons, Daniel and Brent Huber; 1 great granddaughter, Tiffani Thompson. He was preceded in death by one son, Gregory and one sister, Ellen Scharlau.

Memorial services were held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, September 26, 1995 at the Strang Funeral Home, 1055 Main St., Antioch, IL. Interment was private. Those desiring may make contributions to the Antioch Fire Department or the Antioch Rescue Squad or The Helping Hands, Lake Bluff, IL, in his memory.

Thomas R. Breede,

Age 46, of Round Lake Beach, IL passed away suddenly at Loyola Medical Center in Maywood, IL on September 25, 1995 as the result of an automobile accident. He was born in Chicago, IL on March 17, 1949 and was a life long resident of Lake County. He served in the US Army during the Vietnam Era. Sometimes an old-fashioned song

Brings us a thought of you;

Sometimes a
pass along,

Or a sky that is azure blue;

Or a silver lining in the clouds,

When the sun is peeping through.

All of these things, make us think of

Personal Expectations

During our lives we have certain expectations: from our families, from our jobs, and from others with whom we share our thoughts and love. Preplanning a funeral is a way of expressing your personal wishes and desires. Decisions regarding funeral preplanning are best left to the person that knows best - you. Please feel free to come by or call, and we will be glad to discuss the options with the one who knows best.

PUBLIC NOTICE NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY BY THE VILLAGE OF GRAYSLAKE ILLINOIS

Public Notice is hereby given that the Village of Grayslake, Lake County, Illinois shall take bids for the purchase of 2.8916 acres of land located at the southeast corner of Washington Street and Alderson Road in Grayslake, Illinois and legally described as follows:

Outlot Q in College Trail Unit Seven, being a subdivision of parts of the west half of the northwest quarter of Section 25 and of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of Section 24, both in Township 45 North, Range 10, east of the Third Principal Meridian, in Lake County, Illinois.

(the "Property"). The Property would be available for development in the General Business District under the Grayslake Zoning Ordinance.

All bids to purchase the Property shall be delivered to the Village Manager, Grayslake Village Hall, 33 South Whitney Street, Grayslake, Illinois 60030 no later than 5:00 p.m. on December 4, 1995. The bid opening shall be conducted at 2:00 p.m. on December 5, 1995 at the Grayslake Village Hall. Bids shall conform to the terms set forth in this notice and in Village of Grayslake Resolution No. 510 (which is published with this notice) and shall be placed in a sealed envelope marked "Washington/Alderson Property". All bids shall include a proposed purchase contract and shall be accompanied by earnest money in an amount not less than 10% of the proposed purchase price, which earnest money shall be in the form of a certified check payable to the "Village of Grayslake". All bids shall remain open for acceptance until February 4, 1996, and the Village of Grayslake reserves the right to reject all bids, waive any non-material irregularity in bids, and to negotiate the terms of any proposed purchase contract with the lowest responsive and responsible bidder (or, if such negotiation cannot be satisfactorily concluded, with the next lowest responsive and responsible bidder). Unless otherwise agreed by the Village Board of Trustees, the closing on such sale shall occur no later than 60 days after acceptance of the bid.

Information about the Property is included in the Appraisal prepared by Schwandt Realty and Appraisal Company, dated February 28, 1995, which Appraisal is available for inspection at the Grayslake Village Hall.

PUBLIC NOTICE

A RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE SALE OF SURPLUS PUBLIC REAL ESTATE

WHEREAS, the Village of Grayslake (the "Village") is the fee owner of a certain parcel of real property situated at the southeast corner of Atkinson Road and Washington Street in Grayslake, in the County of Lake, State of Illinois, and described on Exhibit A attached to this Resolution (the "Property"); and

WHEREAS, the Property contains 2.8916 acres and is presently unimproved except for a parking lot on the southerly portion of the lot; and

WHEREAS, The Property is not currently being used by the Village for any purpose and is no longer necessary or required for use of the Village; and

WHEREAS, the Village desires to offer the Property for sale to the general public pursuant to Section 11-76-4.1 of the Illinois Municipal Code, 65 ILCS 5/11-76-4.1 (1994); and

WHEREAS, the Property is currently zoned as an R-6 Residential District Planned Unit Development; and

WHEREAS, as conditions to the sale of the Property, the Village would rezone the Property to the General Business (GB) zoning district, but the parking lot on the Property to be encumbered with an easement to the Grayslake Community Park District cannot be included in the calculation of parking spaces provided on the Property for zoning compliance purposes; and

WHEREAS, a written certified appraisal of the Property has been obtained by the Village from Schwandt Realty and Appraisal Company dated February 28, 1995 (the "Appraisal"), establishing the market value of the Property, subject to the foregoing conditions, to be $378,000.00;

EXHIBIT A

LEGAL DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPERTY

Outlot Q in College Trail Unit Seven, Being a Subdivision of parts of the West Half of the Northwest Quarter of Section 25 and of the Southwest Quarter of the Southwest Quarter of Section 24, Both in Township 45 North, Range 10, East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Lake County, Illinois.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF GRAYSLAKE, COUNTY OF LAKE, STATE OF ILLINOIS, as follows:

Section 1. The foregoing recitals are hereby incorporated into and made a part of this Resolution as if fully set forth in this Section.

Section 2. The Village staff is hereby directed and authorized to conduct the sale of the Property in such manner as the Village Manager determines will yield the best price for the Property; provided that the net sale price, including all closing and transfer costs, shall be no less than $302,400.00. The Village staff shall report all qualifying contracts to purchase the Property to the President and Board of Trustees; provided, however, that no such contracts shall be presented to the President and Board of Trustees pursuant to the authority of this Resolution later than June 1, 1996.

Section 3. The Appraisal shall be available for public inspection beginning September 22, 1995, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, at the Grayslake Village Hall, 33 South Whitney Street, Grayslake, Illinois 60030.

Section 4. This Resolution shall be in full force and effect from and after its adoption, and the Village Clerk shall cause this Resolution to be published in its entirety in the Grayslake Times. Passed this 19 day of September, 1995.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I have been working for (name withheld) for the past five months and recently asked my employer for a few weeks off to care for my mom's brother, who had just gotten out of the hospital. Mom could not care for him because she had to work as did dad. My uncle has another brother and sister who both live out of state so I figured that I could handle the job. I understand there is a family leave act that was passed allowing a person the necessary time off to care for a sick family member without losing your job or benefits. My problem is my company called me after the first day being gone and said they were letting me go. They told me the reason was due to inadequate attendance even though they knew I was caring for a sick uncle. The only thing they offered me when I left was that I could continue to pay my own insurance through their <COBRA> plan. My mom and I are thinking of hiring an attorney to file a suit for wrongful dismissal. I know people write to you all the time with their problems, and I would appreciate whatever you could do, or any advice you could give. Thank you. J.P. - Lindenhurst.

A: Dear J.P. In speaking with the parties involved in your behalf, it became known that a 40-hour weekly attendance was not high on your list of priorities. In fact, your company had already put you under an attendance probation 6 weeks before. You may want to rethink your phone call to the lawyer. Per your former employer...5 months working for a company does not meet the requirements of the "Family Leave Act". That's strike one! Caring for your sick uncle under the circumstances would also not fall under the guidelines of the "Family Leave Act". Strike two! According to your former employer their company does not fall into the required number of employees mandatory for instituting this act. Strike three! Obviously in a time of need one does not always know when an emergency will arise where one would need to activate this Family Leave. In your case, however, the story of your uncle that no one ever heard you mention came from out of the blue. A company suffers the additional pressures in the absence of its employees. Yours came without warning and a voicemail message stating you needed the time off. It most likely occurred to your employer that while this time your heart may have been in the right place, your previous track record for reporting to work was not. Voicemail was not the proper way to communicate your dilemma. Your employer decided that in your absence, you would be replaced...permanently. Keep in mind that while although anyone can sue anyone, winning or losing is the gamble you take. Perhaps you should save your money on legal fees since it is apparent that the company has a strong leg to stand on based on past performance. Better you should concentrate your efforts on finding a new job to support yourself and purchase an alarm clock that will assist you in getting to your new employer in time. Good Luck!

and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.
Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave.,

Prep highlights: Warren's Gewalt beats nerves as center

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Paul Gewalt was a little anxious before Warren High's game with football rival Antioch. He would replace a senior center as Drew Sabor was moved to tackle.

"The first series, I was nervous. But I have great teammates and coaches who just said to relax and do fine. After the second series, it got better and better," Gewalt said.

The coaching staff helped a lot in making the transition to starting center.

Gumee is not exactly football crazy, with a 2-3 record, a la quarterfinalist 1991 standards, but the Blue Devils believe 1995 is back in their control.

"It is like night and day. The first win took a lot of pressure off and there was no little nit-picking stuff," Gewalt said.

Tuesday was a good day for Gewalt and his relatives. He learned he would be the starter for the Homecoming game Sept. 30 against Zion-Benton (3-2, 2-1 NSC). It was also his uncle, Gumee Fire Chief Tim McGrath's birthday.

Family's big night

The Hughes family had an enjoyable night in both games as Warren clashed with Antioch Friday. Reggie Jr. caught a pass in the sophomore game in a 20-8 Antioch win. Dad Reggie Sr. then coached the Blue Devils to a 26-0 whitewash of Antioch.

New kid

Mundelein's New kid on the block Corey Adams proved that he can run on the varsity level. The sophomore gained recovered a fumble for a 22-yard touchdown jaunt and later scored from 18 yards out. "He's a multiple threat..." said Mundelein Coach John Ahlgrim.

His efforts went for naught, however, as Libertyville steam-rolled past Mundelein 41-20.

Where's the punter?

Stevenson has needed limited punting duty from Matt Junia as the Patriots have scored nearly every time they touch the ball. Junia has been busy, though, snaring passes such as 7 catches for 110 yards against North Chicago to nullify the need to punt. He also kicks the extra points and returns kickoffs.

Courageous player

The comeback-of-the-year award may be awarded to Grant's Dave Paddock. Paddock suffered a hard hit in a 48-0 loss to Montini. "But he is a great kid and wanted to comeback the next week. He was day-to-day and played on courage and guts," Grant Coach Mark Barczak said. The Bulldogs lost to Grayslake 17-0.

Time and a half?

Working overtime: Round Lake is 2-0 when games boil down to the heart of an effort in overtime. The Panthers are 0-3 in 48-minute contests.

Still the champs

Eye of the 'Canes: Those thinking early-season losses have the Hurricanes of Marian Central down in the Northwest Suburban Conference, think again. The Hurricanes won 42-0 over a Johnsbury team which had been the stiffest on defense.

An even dozen?

Nice gesture: a referee told Round Lake football coaches there were 12 men on the field. A timeout was called and the situation taken care of.

Watch those flags:

Carmel appears to be on a roll with another 400-yard game under its belt in a 31-10 win over Benet.

Carmel spikers look to regroup

Carmel High's girls volleyball team needs to regroup and what a better place than a tourney where the Corsairs have found success.

The Corsairs suffered defeat for the second and third time in 11 matches last week in losses to Waukegan and Marian Catholic. Carmel lost to Marian Catholic 15-8, 15-12 and to Waukegan 15-11, 15-9.

"We are a little flat and need to get some energy back," Carmel Coach Jo Gerardi said.

Carmel is at Lake Forest's tourney where the Corsairs will try and defend their title Sept. 30. The Corsairs did receive a break in that a match against Benet was switched to October.

Sarah Worklan had 7 kills against Marian Catholic in the East Suburban Catholic Conference battle. Chris Pietranek had 3 kills and 2 blocks.

"She is a very quick hitter and that comes in handy in the middle," Gerardi said.

Adapted sports clinic slated

Northern Illinois Special Recreation Association (NISRA) is hosting its first Adapted Sports Workshop for athletes with a physical disability on Saturday, Oct. 21 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Crystal Lake. For more information, call Kerry Ruddy at NISRA, (815) 459-0737.

Rivera leads CHS in romp

An early penalty nor the Benet defense could stop Carmel High's first-half offense in a 31-10 romp.

The Corsairs scored 25 first-half points as quarterback Nick Yeager rushed for three touchdowns and Kevin Burris added two more as Carmel improved to 3-1 overall, 2-1 East Suburban Catholic Conference.

"The turning point came very early. Ruben Rivera ran for about 70 yards for a touchdown, but that was called back due to a clipping penalty. Yeager hit Jim Koelper for a 32-yard pass," Carmel Coach Mike Fitzgibbons said.

The Corsairs were on their way to a 387-yard rushing performance before the home fans. Rivera inched close to the 600-yard mark for four games as he had 590 yards after a 176-yard effort.

Burris added 92 yards, Yeager 41. The defense allowed only 120 yards of Redwing offense.

Linebacker Steve Golebiowski led the way with 7 solo tackles and 5 assists.

Carmel figures to have a tougher test when they host Marist at 8 p.m. Sept. 29.

"Marist is always tough - they have a great defense. We have had some bothersome penalties and we need to get better with that," Fitzgibbons said. "They do a lot of blitzing, but our linemen have played well the last two weeks."

Foes' late drive frustrates Chiefs' efforts in tilt

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

One word summed up the Lake County Chiefs' mood Sunday.

Frustration.

Look up the word in the dictionary, and the semi-pro football team's team picture may be there. The Chiefs dominated the first half against Chicago Chargers but came away on the short end of a 14-13 score. The loss dropped the Chiefs to 1-3 in the Chicagoland Football League.

"I thought we dominated the game. We did whatever we wanted to do. I am frustrated because the referees won this game for the Chargers," Chiefs head coach Mike Wade said.

The Chiefs scored just before the halftime for a 13-6 deficit and added 8 points in the final minute.

The Chargers drove 60 yards for the final score, with half of the yards coming on penalties assessed to the Chiefs. The most controversial came on fourth down when a Chiefs' defensive lineman was called for roughing the passer - after he blocked a pass.

Robert Davis did the Chiefs in as he scored from three yards out and added the two-point conversion.

The Chiefs (1-3) return to Hanson Stadium for a 3 p.m. game Oct. 1 against the Chicago Thunder.

Craig Freeman got the Chiefs on the board this chilly Sunday afternoon at Hanson Stadium with a 25-yard touchdown return after an interception for a 6-0 lead four minutes into the contest. Tom Vergis' extra point gave the Chiefs a 7-0 cushion.

"Freeman has been solid all year. He is a good defensive back. They knew what they had to do," Wade said.

Kevin Edmonson had a second-half interception, but the Chiefs' nine-play drive was halted. The next six minutes belonged to the Chargers.

A short drive accounted had for the second Chiefs' first-half score as Todd Brown threw an 8-yard toss to Andre Johnson for a 13-0 lead.

The Chiefs switched quarterbacks for the fourth quarter as Maurice Thomas was brought in for Brown.

The frustration showed as Brown said he was subbed in because he made play suggestions.

"It was because we have three games this week and we wanted to keep everyone fresh," Wade said.

Clouds were moving in by the time Davis scampered across the goal line and decided the game.

The Chiefs must regroup fast for better playoff chances. The Chicago Thunder provide the opposition twice - Wednesday in Chicago and the Oct. 1 game.

Variety spurs Vikings to easy win

As Round Lake Spartans youth football players looked on, they learned variety is important part of football.

Someone different scored on each of the Lake County Vikings' 40 points on touchdowns in a 45-0 romp over Springfield on a chilly Saturday night at Round Lake High.

"I have a lot of confidence with the receivers," Vikes QB Addam Tesch said. "We used this a stepping stone as we are getting ready to play Gary. It will be nice to have a challenge and will make for a lot more intense practices."

Tesch was referring to the next contest at 7 p.m. at Gary's Gilroy Stadium on Sept. 30.

He completed half of his 18 passes for 100 yards and let the ground game do the rest against the undermanned Bucs.

"We just wanted to diversify our offense. The best part was the two-minute drill before the end of the first half. It gave us what we wanted. We tried everything we wanted to try and did everything we wanted to do," Vikings Coach Russ Kraly said.

Win Wratschko provided the first points on a 43-yard field goal.

The Vikes (7-1) were off to their sixth straight win when Reggie Lawrence blasted in from the 3-yard line for a 9-0 lead. This was set up by a 61-yard punt return by Frank Ruiz.

Starting again in Springfield territory as they would the whole game, Ben Korn scored from 6 yards out for a 17-0 lead with 11:19 left in the second period. Tesch completed a 9-yard pass to Rick Starosta and a 10-yard pass to Mike Draper.

Starosta is having one of his better years as a tight end and did the honors the next series with a 12-yard snare from Tesch. The score came after a fumble recovery by Anthony Poole.

Luke Tesch did the honors following a safety as Chuck McGraw was sacked by Joe Belcher. Tesch ran it in from 5 yards out, sealing the win at 31-0.

Ruiz and Tesch added third quarter scores on a pass and a run.

The Vikings welcomed back Bob Akers to the secondary. Next week, Walter Tesch returns as back-up quarterback.

CLC linksters survive loop test

College of Lake County's golf team finished first in four Skyway Conference matches.

The Lancers rose to the challenge against Oakton, pulling out a 313-315 win.

"Our strength is we have been very balanced. If a player does not shoot well, others will pick him up," Coach Tom Lee said.

The Lancers were vying for a tie for the conference title, at Waubensee before a meet at Elgin wrapped up league action. The Rockford regional is Oct. 5-6.

Soph Tony Schultz, a Warren High grad, had an 81 against Oakton. Vince Crovetti had a 76, followed by Jason Scarbrough's 77, Ted Makela's 78 and Brad Daley's 79.

Makela, a Warren High grad, topped his season average of 80.

CLC tennis team gains timely wins

It was a long way to travel for a scrimmage.

The College of Lake County women's tennis team showed why it is one of the tops in the area as the Lancers had four finalists and won the College of DuPage tournament Saturday.

Julia Sapozhnikova remained unbeaten at No. 1 singles as she beat teammate Jane Buckman 6-0, 6-1 for the crown.

"It worked out well. Jane had hurt her hip and was just coming back. It would have been closer if Jane had been in better shape," CLC Coach Dick Watson said.

Sapozhnikova then teamed up with Buckman to win the doubles title. They downed Lisa Lopez and Becki Ziolk 6-3, 6-2.

"Becki has been playing extremely well - wonderful doubles," Watson said of the Grayslake High grad.

Lopez won three matches in consolation singles. Sapozhnikova, 14-0, will compete in singles and join with Buckman in doubles at the nationals in Florida Oct. 19-22.

In Skyway Conference play, CLC had no trouble with Waubensee in a 7-0 win. Lopez won at No. 3 singles 10-0 in an upset as CLC improved to 11-2, 3-0 Skyway.

CLC spikers gain victories, revenge with balance

Revenge was definitely on the minds of College of Lake County volleyball players.

"We had lost to them in Wisconsin, so we were hyped," CLC freshman Jodi Botsford said.

The Lancers prevailed over Madison Tech three games to one in a 15-7, 14-16, 15-5, 15-7 win.

CLC hosts its own Lancers Invitational Sept. 30.

"Our communication was better," Heather Miller said of the third and fourth game wins.

"Both our offense and defense improved," CLC Coach Sue Garcia said.

Carrie Curtis of Antioch and Stacey Harrison had 12 digs each. Jenny VosBurgh had three blocks on defense.

Harrison is getting used to her new role of setter. She was 20-of-21 for 8 kills in attack. Curtis was 25-of-31 with 7 kills and VosBurgh also contributed 7 kills with 23-of-26.

"She is an all-around player. You can count on her. If you tell her to do something, she does it," Garcia said of Harrison.

Curtis is an up-and-coming player. "She struggled the first couple of weeks, but her serving and passing has improved," Garcia said.

VosBurgh, a freshman middle hitter, is another player CLC counts on.

The Lancers (6-12) have also been surprised with the contributions of some players such as Grant High's Jessica Rodriguez.

Against Madison Tech, CLC broke open a 4-4 tie behind Curtis and VosBurgh's points to a 11-5 lead. Botsford, a Warren High grad, finished the game with an ace.

Madison Tech outlasted CLC in the second game although the home team did really for 11-11 ties with Botsford serving and 14-14 tie with Curtis serving.

Curtis paced CLC to a 7-0 lead in game three.

Game four saw CLC break away from a 7-6 deficit for an 8-0 finish.

NFL official reflects on 18 years as pro referee

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Less than 48 hours after being involved in a controversial call with New York Giants coach Dan Reeves during this year's first Monday Night Football game with the Dallas Cowboys, NFL referee Paul Baetz was in Lake County talking football.

Millions watched as Baetz went toe-to-toe with Reeves over an interference call, but about 50 listened appreciatively as Baetz took a time-out to speak at a power breakfast at Midland Country Club sponsored by the Lake County Chamber of Commerce.

Following the footsteps of his father, Baetz worked his way up from refereeing varsity high school football games to refereeing the famed Penn State vs. Pitt college game in 1977 in which Tony Dorsett played his last collegiate game to refereeing the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Bears in his first NFL game in 1978.

For the past 18 years, he has thrown the dubious yellow flag games in more than 300 NFL games. He refereed the first NFL game in Europe in which the Bears played the Minnesota Vikings. He refereed the largest ever attended football game in Mexico City, where more than 125,000 fans paid tickets to watch America's version of football. And he reffed two Super Bowls.

"You've got to set goals just like in business," Baetz told Lake County business leaders. "You gain experience. You work very hard, and you adjust your goals periodically."

After five years of coaching collegiate football, Baetz got the call to interview to be one of 112 referees in the NFL. Baetz passed extensive FBI, financial and psychological tests.

"They don't want anybody

'You've got to set goals just like in business. You gain experience. You work very hard, and you adjust your goals periodically.'

Paul Baetz

who needs that money. They want to make sure you're perfectly clean," Baetz said.

As for the psychological testing, "You have to have the correct temperament to be away from your family for six months, and they want to make sure you have the temperament to deal with a Mike Ditka or a Dan Reeves," Baetz quipped.

Baetz works as a backfield judge and watches the wide receivers and defensive backs. He works with the same seven-man crew week after week for approximately $2,300 a game.

For referees, he said their season begins in March when they begin studying the new rules. They also spend a week in various football training camps to get to know new players and coaches.

Like the players, referees study films from games they covered the week before. Each play is scrutinized at their New York headquarters. "They tell us what we did right and what we did wrong," Baetz said.

They are at the games two and a half hours before kickoff. "After the game, we rush to the airport and come home," he said.

Over the last 18 years, he said he has noticed three significant changes. First and foremost, he said, the impact of the black athlete such as Deion Sanders, Emmett Smith and Jerry Rice has significantly improved the intensity and competitiveness of the game.

"If we didn't have the black athlete, we wouldn't have the same product we have today," Baetz noted.

He also said the movement of franchises and players has become much more fluid. Deion Sanders has played for Atlanta, San Francisco and now Dallas within the last five years.

"When I was growing up you knew every player because he stayed with the same team," Baetz said.

Franchise are becoming more fluid, too. The St. Louis Cardinals, for example, moved to Phoenix, and the Los Angeles Rams moved to St. Louis this year.

"Franchises will continue to move," Baetz said. "Mike McCaskey may move the Chicago Bears. If the money is right, he will probably move."

Finally, he said the biggest impact has been television. In addition to the three networks, TNT, FOX and ESPN now offer games.

"All of our timing rules out on the field revolve around television and commercial breaks," Baetz said.

On a more personal side, Baetz said the greatest football player he had ever seen was Chicago's very own Walter Payton. Not only does Payton hold the rushing record, but he only missed one game in 14 seasons.

"No one had a bigger heart than Walter Payton," Baetz said. "Other players may have more talent than Walter Payton, but what I always admired was that he always put out."

The greatest game he ever reffed was the 1992 playoff game between Houston and Buffalo. Midway through the third quarter, Houston led 35-3. Buffalo however orchestrated a come-back to steal the 41-38 victory. "It was the most exciting game I've been in in my life," he said.

The most touching game he was involved in was his first Super Bowl between Cincinnati and San Francisco.

"It was the culmination of a lot of hard work on my point," Baetz said. "Out of 112 officials in the world, I was considered the No. 1 back judge in the world...We all strive to be the best in what we do."

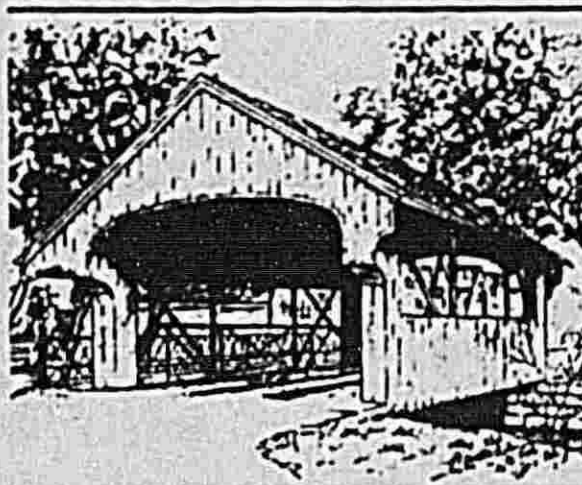

Night golf lights up Brae Loch

Lake County Forest Preserves' Brae Loch Golf Course will be all aglow with golfers when it hosts the "Nine at Night Golf Tournament" Oct. 6 from 5:30 to 11 p.m. Foursomes will don glow-in-the-dark necklaces as they play a nine-hole scramble using glowing golf balls and official night golf rules.

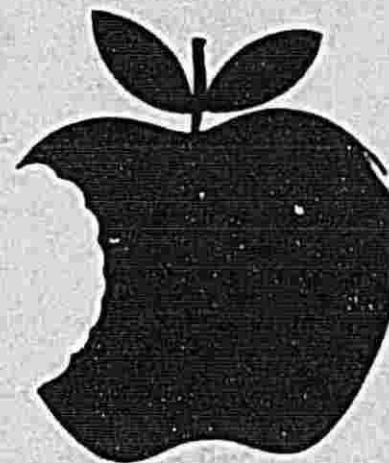

A pre-tournament buffet dinner will be served in Brae Loch's Banquet Facility at 5:30 p.m. The scramble begins at 7:30 p.m. After the tournament, golfers will return to the banquet for special awards, door prizes and a midnight snack.

Tournament fee is $140 per foursome or $35 per person. For more information or to register a foursome, call 223-5542.

Thank You Lake County!

Day of Caring 1995 was a huge success!

On Friday September 8, 1,100 volunteers participated in Day of Caring, sponsored by United Way of Lake County and The Volunteer Center of United Way of Lake County.

These volunteers completed 60 service projects at Lake County non-profit agencies, totaling more than $100,000 in donated labor!

United Way of Lake County and its Volunteer Center thank the following Lake County businesses and organizations for their participation in this worthwhile community event!
